Kin-in-Law May Rule In Spain

Insurgent Leader Now Considers Himself Good Material to Vie With Other Dictators Now Rampant in Europe

WARSHIPS TO AID AS SPAIN COLLAPSES

By RALPH HEINZEN
British United Press. Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin.

PARIS, March 1—French and British warships yesterday were believed waiting off the Spanish Mediterranean coast to evacuate Loyalist leaders. Reports reached Paris and London that the collapse of Republican cause was imminent.

Nationalist dispatches said Gen. Jose Miaja, commander-in-chief of the loyalist armies, planned to board a ship for Mexico, on invitation of President Lazaro Cardenas, and that Premier Juan Negrin intended to fly to France.

The 800-mile battle line in central Spain was now a ghost front, dispatches from Spain said. Fighting had ceased. Loyalist troops were planting trees in the shattered parks of the suburbs, a Madrid dispatch said, where a few weeks ago they were fighting bitterly.

Confident that collapse of Loyalist resistance was near, Nationalists eyed preparations for a triumphal entry into Madrid. Food convoys were mustered on roads approaching Madrid, and regiments of civil guards were waiting to march in and take over the capital's policing.

SPANISH Rebel Generalissimo Franco is reported about to establish a new insurgent government, with himself as dictator and his brother-in-law, Ramon Serrano Suner, as premier. Suner, now Minister of the Interior, is considered strongly pro-fascist. Trained in the law and holder of important judicial positions at an early age, Ramon Serrano Suner was active in the underground anti-republican agitation which culminated in the Spanish civil war. Now 37, he is a leader of the Falangist or Fascist wing of the insurgent movement. He was captured in Madrid when the war started in 1936, but escaped from the "model prison" to Franco territory. In 1937, while head of the Falangist press department, he attended the Nuremberg Nazi Congress as Adolf Hitler's guest of honor. When a Franco government was organized in 1938, Suner was appointed Minister of the Interior and Governor of the city of Valladolid.

PUBLIC NEED CREDIT ISSUE IS ENDORSED

Legislature Adopts Resolution Moved By Lacombe Member

Sweeping aside two amendments, the legislature on Tuesday, by a vote of 46 to six adopted a resolution moved by D. B. Bruce MacMillan, S.C. Lacombe, urging the Dominion government to issue credit in terms of public need or concur in the Alberta government taking such action to end distress.

Three divisions were called before the resolution was cleared from the Order Paper.

On one vote D. M. Duggan, Alberta Conservative leader found himself in the position of voting with the government, while on another amendment, the Liberals were in the position of voting with the government to defeat an amendment submitted by Independent Social Crediters.

WAGES ACTION

Sponsored by Mr. MacMillan the main motion urged the Dominion parliament to instruct the Dominion government "to take effective action to issue credit in terms of public need or concur in the government of Alberta taking such action, so that the economic and financial distress of our people be ended."

In the preamble Mr. MacMillan set out that the Dominion government had pledged itself in 1935 to restore control of currency and credit to the people and to issue credit in terms of public need.

Mr. MacMillan charged that the Dominion government had failed to do this.

He also charged that the Dominion government had blocked ef-

U.S. Trade Pact Assailed When Wheat Imported

Subsidized Grain Ground by Canadian Mills —House Member Openly Attacks George McCullagh, Publisher

OTTAWA, March 1.—Hundreds of thousands of bushels of subsidized United States wheat are being imported into Ontario and ground into flour for consumption in Canada, Karl Homuth (Con., Waterloo South) told the House of Commons Tuesday in the course of a vigorous attack on the new Canada-United States trade agreement.

American wheat at Buffalo was offered to Canadian mills at a price 36 cents a bushel below the charge to American mills, he said.

Debate on the trade agreement today brought the first outspoken attack on George McCullagh, publisher of the Toronto Globe and Mail, from a member of the house since Mr. McCullagh launched his leadership league movement.

The critic was J. A. Glen (Lib., Marquette) who charged the publisher with flagrantly transgressing the best traditions of journalism.

McCullagh was referred to as "the boy wonder of Toronto" as Mr. Glen resumed debate.

Mr. Glen declared the Toronto newspaper's campaign in criticism of the present parliament was "an example of the extent to which a newspaper can descend in the way of innuendo." Before criticising the government or parliament an editor "with any sense of dignity" would have taken into consideration what had been accomplished.

"It is journalism of this kind that gives point to the efforts in some countries to control the press," Mr. Glen said. "If Mr. McCullagh has a

Sacred Conclave Marks Start Of Papal Election

By GEORGE JORDAN
Associated Press Foreign Staff

VATICAN CITY, March 1. — Cardinals about to elect a new Pope prayed today for guidance of the Holy Ghost, following the celebration of mass in the small Pauline chapel near the Sistine Chapel, where opening ceremonies of the papal conclave were to be held this afternoon.

Cardinal Granito Pignatelli De Belmonte, elderly Dean of the Sacred College, said the mass. The full college of 62 cardinals will start balloting tomorrow to elect a successor to Pope Pius XI. Today was devoted to ceremonial proceedings.

Among the 62 are Cardinals Leme of Rio De Janeiro and Copello of Buenos Aires who arrived by special train this morning from Naples. They were the first from South America ever to come to a conclave.

Extraordinary precautions were taken to keep the conclave secret. Excommunication even might fall upon the attendant or conclavist (whom each cardinal takes with him into the conclave) who betrayed any secret in connection with the election of the new pope.

WALLED ISOLATION

This afternoon, the cardinals will file through a single doorway into walled isolation in the centre of the Vatican, to emerge only after they have elected a new pope, by the traditional method which go back to the end of the 12th century.

The conclave can last indefinitely. In the thirteenth century, three popes elapsed before Gregory X was finally elected pope. Vatican observers were confident today, however, that a new pope will be found this time within two or three days.

In their specially constructed quarters the cardinals will be cut off from all communication with the outside world except through four medium.

These, the "captains of the wheels" were named today by Prince Chigi-Albani. They will guard the famous wheels or open-

GRAY STATES SERVICE TAX UNJUST LEVY

Liberal Leader Urges Estimates Be Referred Back For Revision

Contending the the Social Service Tax, estimated to yield $1,-250,000 in this fiscal year starting on April 1 next "is unjust in that it is levied on land," E. L. Gray, Alberta Liberal leader, climaxed his address in the budget debate in the legislature Wednesday by moving a motion that the estimates be turned back to the government for reconsideration and revision.

Mr. Gray's move was tantamount to a non-confidence motion.

Text of his motion is as follows:

COST INCREASING

"Whereas it is shown by the estimates that the cost of government in the province of Alberta is steadily increasing; and

"Whereas it is expedient that such increase in cost of government be checked so that taxation may be reduced, particularly on agricultural lands.

"Therefore this assembly advises His Majesty's government to reconsider the estimates and revise the same for the purpose of effecting economies in administration costs and for the purpose of

TAX RATE WILL BE DETERMINED FOR END MARCH

City commissioners are progressing rapidly with review of current estimates and expect to strike the 1939 mill rate by the end of March, two weeks earlier than last year, it was stated Wednesday by Mayor John W. Fry.

Estimates have been submitted by 10 civic departments and final revised drafts will be made during the next few weeks. Commissioners have set May 3 as the due date for the first quarterly installment of taxes and wish to determine the mill rate in time to give City Assessor Thomas Walker ample opportunity to issue tax notices.

PREMIER URGES AVOID RANCOR ON ROYAL TRIP

Interjection of political rancor into discussions of plans in connection with the Royal Visit should be avoided, according to an opinion expressed Wednesday by Premier William Aberhart, in referring to a report of a discussion on Royal Visit plans, which took place at a city council meeting Monday when criticisms were voiced of the appropriation included in provincial estimates for this visit.

"We have no desire to economize unduly in our expenditures," Premier said. "I feel sure that the people realize that our intention is to do everything possible to show our allegiance and give due honor to Their Majesties, paying them tribute in a manner befitting the occasion.

"But our anxiety along this line does not prevent us from using every precaution and care in connection with out expenditures without stinting anything that would seem necessary for the occasion.

"I am quite confident that Their Majesties would much prefer that we assume this attitude for surely in conditions such as we have in this country at the present time our loyalty and allegiance will not be [illegible] by the amount of [illegible] spent, the occasion.

CONTINUATION WHEAT BOARD IS ADVOCATED

Hon. D. B. Mullen Also Urges Fixed Market Price

OTTAWA, March 1.—Continued operation of the Canadian Wheat Board—the recommendation of the Turgeon Grain Commission report for coping with abnormal market conditions—was urged upon the Dominion government today by a committee representing wheat growers, dealers and business men.

Continuation of the wheat board and establishment of a fixed price for wheat were urged by Hon. D. B. Mullen, Alberta minister of agriculture, in an address Tuesday night.

The address was one of a series sponsored by the United Farmers of Alberta regarding the wheat marketing problem of Western Canada.

"I would strongly urge the continuation of the wheat board and the establishment of a fixed price for wheat, and I would emphatically recommend that the proposed policy for bonusing of the wheat producer on an acreage basis be deferred until the merits of the proposal can be given further consideration," said Mr. Mullen.

VIEWS WITH CONCERN

Mr. Mullen said he viewed with concern the recent announcement by Hon. J. G. Gardiner, federal minister of agriculture, that the government planned to substitute an acreage bonus plan for the present wheat board and pegged price of 80 cents a bushel for wheat, basis No. 1 Northern at Fort William.

"I support a government stabilization policy, and I do so on the

Nazi Airforce Terror to Enemies

Goering Asserts Weapon Provides Power For Hitler

Field Marshal Says Aviation Branch of Military Will Continue Play Important Part World Politics

BERLIN, March 1.—Field Marshal Goering, air minister and economics administrator, declared in a nation-wide broadcast today that "the German airforce is the terror of our enemies and we are determined to keep it that way."

Opening the annual observance of air force day Marshal Goering predicted aviation forces "will continue to play an important role in world politics" where the situation "continues to be full of tension stirred by international Jewry."

Goering said he was determined to continue to build Germany's airforce because "armament fear has gripped many great democracies which make it necessary for us to proceed with steady improvement of this weapon."

Without the power of the airforce, he said, it might have been impossible for Chancellor Hitler to create greater Germany (including Austria and Sudetenland).

Calling upon Germans to join the airforce, Goering described his men as "elite of the nation."

ITALY PLANS TO INCREASE LIBYA GUARD

London Advised Of Latest Decision By Il Duce

LONDON, March 1.—Italy has advised Great Britain it will increase its already heavily reinforced Libyan garrison even further, it was learned last night.

The information was conveyed yesterday to the Earl of Perth, British ambassador at Rome, by Giuseppe Bastianini, Italian foreign under secretary.

Bastianini, it is understood, said the move was required in "self-defence" against the alleged concentration of heavy French reinforcements in southern Tunisia. Lord Perth is reported to have replied he found the Rome government's decision "regretable."

Natives Clash With French Gendarmes

TUNIS, Tunisia, March 1.—Natives armed with "army rifles of a foreign country" engaged in a fatal clash with French gendarmes in southern Tunisia yesterday, police announced.

Three natives were killed and one gendarme was wounded in the encounter between Gabes and Gafsa behind the French defence lines facing Italian Libya. Reports here said the natives were from Italian Libya. Police did not specify what country the foreign rifles came from.

country were halted to permit students to listen.

"How could the Fuehrer have brought Austria back to the Reich and founded the greater Germany despite the fury of our adversaries?" he demanded. "How, without this military force, could he have liberated the Sudetens without drawing his sword? In 1938 our aviation gave a warning of force to all who want to hurl themselves into aggression.

"The offensive appearance of our aviation was evaluated in a most remarkable role in dealing with the avid demagogues of war.

NO ILLUSIONS

"We are under no illusions. The political situation is strained. We are slandered.

"Jewish incitements continue on both sides of the ocean. Other elements fever has seized upon the entire world.

"Our adversaries rejected disarmament proposals made by the Fuehrer. Now they claim to hold us responsible for their superarmament."

Goering called upon parents to encourage as many as possible of their sons to enlist in the air force.

"The most striking is the personal worth of the aviator," Goering said. "The question of equipment is supplementary and is easy to settle. We have strong plants making the best equipment in the world. I am happy to have the best of aviators."

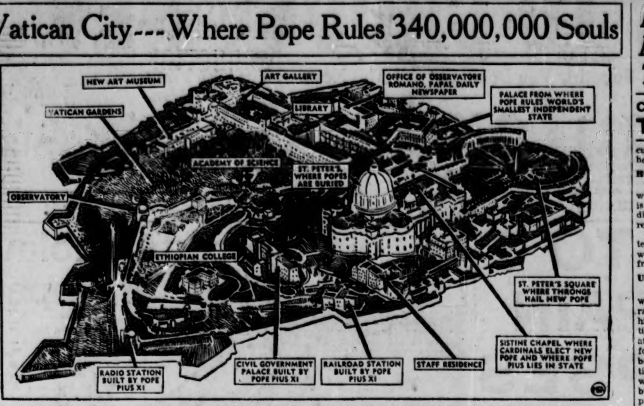

"Remember our young heroes, Richtoffen, Boelcke and others. They were young men, often only 17 or 18 years old. What glory it is to wage chivalrous combat in the golden air, so that Germany shall safeguard its most precious possession, peace."

NEW REVIEW BOARD WILL BE SELECTED

Justice Shepherd To Be Chairman Farmer-Creditor Act Group

An additional board of review under the Farmers' Creditors' Arrangement act will be appointed in Alberta and Saskatchewan in the near future, it was stated in authoritative sources here Wednesday.

Chairman of the new board in Alberta will be Mr. Justice S. J. Shepherd, and activities of this board will be confined to southern territory, according to the story circulated. The chairman of the Saskatchewan board will be Chief Justice C. R. Mitchell, chairman of the present board.

It is understood that F. H. Holmes, Pincher Creek farmer commissioner on the present board, will be transferred to the southern board, and a new appointment made to the northern board. Several names are mentioned in this respect.

On the northern board, in addition to Chief Justice Mitchell, Col. George B. McLeod will continue to act as creditor commissioner and a creditor commissioner will be named for the southern board.

According to the story circulated here, after the Saskatchewan legislature has prorogued, it is understood also that Hon. T. C. Davis, attorney-general of Saskatchewan, will resign his seat in the legislature and will be appointed to the Saskatchewan court of appeal to fill the vacancy created by the retirement of Chief Justice Sir Frederick Haultain, and the election of Mr. Justice Turgeon to the chief justiceship.

Gray Speaks

deleting the item respecting revenue estimated from the Social Service Tax."

In the course of his address, Mr. Gray dealt with the ever-mounting revenue from taxation and expenditures and opposed the high levies on land.

FIRST GOVERNMENT

Mr. Gray said that the first government of this province "took an undeveloped agricultural region and brought it, not to the status of a mere province, but to the status of an empire, taking its place in agricultural production, in services and in contributions to the allied armies in the Great War beside any state in the world at that time. With its manpower depleted by enlistments it contributed its production to the allied cause. It built railways, it created services.

"We then had a second government which carried on the development for another period of 14 years, facing increased social services, new methods of transportation and all the problems of a postwar period and a depression period.

PRESENT ADMINISTRATION

"We then come to the present government. What is the obvious trend? It may be stated, it seems to me, under two headings.

"1—Ever mounting government costs. This government in four years spends on income account about $11,000,000 more than the first government of the province expended on the same account in 16 years and population and development or resources do not justify the increase.

"2—No effort is being made to check or reduce an ever mounting public debt. There is now a very alarming tendency on the part of the present government to go into unsound business ventures."

Dealing with the affairs of the present government, Mr. Gray contended that "It has not faced any new problems. The trend of its expenditures has been steadily upwards until we have in the present budget an all-time high. Debt increase has been checked only to the extent that the government has failed to meet the obligations and liabilities of its predecessors.

BENEFICIAL SERVICES

"There is no marked increase in beneficial services. It came into power at a time when the building of roads was a necessity and it has completed a portion of the work. This portion does not benefit the people of the province as a whole. Its benefit is limited to those fortunate enough to live in a few selected localities.

"In general it may be said that there is no increase in population, no increase in agriculture, no increase in public buildings beyond what may be considered replacements and beyond those necessary additions required for an increasing population of the mentally deficient. In resources, only oil production has improved to any great extent.

"In general this budget calls for approximately $3,000,000 more in taxation than that of the last one of the United Farmers government.

"Payments to sinking fund of between $800,000 and $900,000 per year have been discontinued. Payments of interest of approximately $3,000,000 per year have been avoided. This makes a difference in round figures of about $7,000,000 between this budget and that of 1935-1936.

GIVES CREDIT

"Out of this difference we must give credit for payment on savings certificates of an average of about $1,000,000 per year and payment of unemployment relief and other charges of about $2,000,000 a year. There has, therefore, been an upward trend in expenditure amounting to about $1,000,000 annually."

Mr. Gray contended that the upward trend in taxation was a warning that the taxpayer had reached the limit of [illegible] and that [illegible] risky [illegible] erals.

SPAIN LACKING BOTH PRESIDENT AND GOVERNMENT

MADRID, March 1.—The cabinet of Premier Juan Negrin, meeting at a secret rendezvous somewhere in Alicante province, adjourned at 2:30 a.m. today without an announcement whether it had decided to surrender or continue to resist the superior war machine of General Franco.

The official communique, after the 3½-hour session, said the cabinet dealt with "several routine administrative matters" and decided to meet again in Madrid after Premier Negrin had informed it of the "general situation."

The "general situation" included lack of a president and lack of the status of a government in the official eyes of most of the world.

ARMY ESTIMATE AGAIN BOOSTED TO PEACE PEAK

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, March 1.—Great Britain boosted her army estimates today by $250,000,000 to a new peacetime record and made provision for adding 15,700 men to its strength.

Following the unprecedented postwar naval appropriations announced yesterday, the government published the army's 1939-40 estimates of £161,133,000 ($755,711,000). The corresponding figure for 1938-39 was £106,500,000.

Leslie Hore-Belisha, secretary for war, in a memorandum issued with the estimates said the strength of the regular home army, exclusive of troops in India and Burma, would be increased by 15,700 to 185,700, highest for any post-war year. Britain maintains 45,250 troops in India and 1,050 in Burma.

Taking together the increase in strength and the increased money vote, it is believed the British government has envisaged the need of a wartime continental army and is preparing in advance for it.

CABINET HEARS PLANS ASSIST WEST FARMER

OTTAWA, March 1.—Headed by Premier John Bracken of Manitoba, a delegation representing the western markets committee went into conference today with Prime Minister Mackenzie King and members of the government. The delegation laid before the cabinet a plan aimed at assisting western agriculture generally.

Today's meeting was in camera. The program presented by Mr. Bracken was developed from a marketing conference held last November at Winnipeg. Subsequent meetings of a wheat committee appointed at the conference were held in January at Regina and Saskatoon. These were representative of all the agricultural interests in western Canada; and the plan proposed by Premier Bracken was a compromise scheme designed to lift western farming out of its present depressed state.

BRITISH DENY REPORTS

British government sources denied all reports of British activity. But it was asserted on the highest Loyalist authority here that Great Britain had brought urgent pressure to bear on Loyalist leaders by offering to exchange Franco for their principal aides, and hinging it on immediate acceptance.

It was asserted also that this offer had been accepted by Loyalist Premier Negrin on condition that Loyalist judicial authorities return to Spain and aid in designating those Republicans who are to flee —those who would be regarded as "criminals" by the Nationalists and thus subject to prosecution.

NATIONALISTS WIN

Diplomatically the Nationalists already had won a complete victory. Recognition had been granted them unconditionally by Great Britain and France. Recognition had been withdrawn from the Loyalist, except as constituting a de facto regime over the Loyalist territory in central Spain.

The old red and gold flag of the Spanish monarchy flew over Spanish embassies in thirty-four nations which have established de jure relations with the Nationalists.

The United States and Russia were the principal non-recognizing powers.

HAND OVER GOLD

France had agreed to hand over to the Nationalists Loyalist government gold in the Bank of France; Loyalist warships and merchant ships in French ports; Loyalist war materials in France; livestock brought to France; art treasures, gold and silver plate, recently brought into France during the Catalonian retreat, and other materials.

Chamberlain Awaits Final End Of War

LONDON, March 1—Prime Minister Chamberlain, having overcome parliamentary opposition to British recognition of the Spanish nationalists, today awaited the end of the Spanish civil war as another step in his long range plan for general European settlement.

After that the next pressing matters appeared to be the long-mooted demands for world trade, possibly her colonial grievances and the Italian clamor for French colonial territory.

The Spanish Republican government still clung to its remaining one-fourth of Spain and General Franco had over 500,000 men and 800 planes ready to consolidate the victory he already claimed.

No matter whether the Republicans chose to capitulate or surrender as reported last Saturday or decided to go on fighting, few persons in London believed the war would last much longer.

The House of Commons voted 346 to 137 last night against a Labor motion of censure which in effect called for the government's resignation for recognizing Franco's regime. It came at the end of a bitter opposition attack led by Clement Attlee, Labor leader.

The attack centred about charges Mr. Chamberlain had "misled" the house by not informing it h ad advance that recognition was to be accorded.

Yesterday the red and gold banner of the Spanish nationalists flew over the Spanish embassy here, hoisted after the Duke of Alba took office as Franco's envoy to London.

The men suffered cuts and bruises on the head and shoulders.

HOW ABOUT GERMANY

"But the only country in the world that has solved this problem is Germany and we know how they did it. Does Mr. McCullagh want regimentation?"

Evidently he is against that system "judging from his squawk when he was denied what he called free speech over the radio."

UNIFYING RAILWAYS

Mr. McCullagh, said Mr. Glen was in favor of the unification of railways, but it was worth noting his own success with the unification of two newspapers. The operating profit of the Globe and Mail for 1938 was $21,235, but that was before any allowance for depreciation and it was not disclosed whether any rent was paid on the building occupied by the newspaper.

"It was amazing that this gentleman who proposes to lecture parliament and all its members on how to conduct the business of the country can only realize from the combination of those two papers a profit of his operations of 1-31 per cent. and that, in spite of the increased price of the papers he now sells," said Mr. Glen.

ALBERTA OUTSTANDING

"The Alberta government is generally recognized as the best government in Canada," said William Hayhurst (K.C., Vegreville).

"They are cognizant of the situation as it is. They have a policy of their own and they are developing industry in Alberta in their own way."

As a group, Social Crediters were in favor of the trade treaty and the people of his constituency were in favor of it. It was not entirely satisfactory but it was acceptable under the circumstances. A new spirit of harmony between the English-speaking nations.

Mr. Hemuth said western members never had a good word to say for industry in eastern Canada, but continually complained of the protection accorded to industry. The western wheat growers were themselves enjoying protection in the form of a fixed price. No one in the east objected to that, but the farmers of eastern Canada received much protection.

The government's concern for western farmers was indicated by the fact that almost every statement by Hon. J. G. Gardiner, minister of agriculture, referred to western wheat.

LITTLE CONCERN

Recent events also indicated the government had little concern for eastern wheat growers who had a large carryover and a production of 20,000,000 bushels last year.

"Hours and days of the time of this house have been taken up in the discussion of a new policy for wheat problem, yet here are these hundreds of thousands of bushels of wheat piled up in the east while the farmers of Ontario, who buy their bread, are sitting at table and eating bread made by subsidized American wheat, while their granaries are full of their own wheat and they do not know what to do with it."

PRAISES ACCORD

J. R. Kirk (Lib. Antigonish-Guysboro) praised the trade agreement. Referring to the opinion expressed recently by Dr. H. R. Fleming (Lib Humboldt), that the government should not go to the west until it knew the benefits of the agreement were known, Mr. Kirk said he disagreed. He believed the record of the government was such that it could be returned whenever it chose to hold an election.

Grote Stirling (Yale, Vancouver South) urged members of the house to visit British Columbia and get the viewpoint of the province as well as to learn of its interests and potentialities. The prime minister and other members of the government, he believed, would be convinced by their absence" in British Columbia since the 1935 election campaign, he said.

"We were busy here" Hon. Ernest Lapointe, minister of justice, said.

Boy, 7, Is Hurt By Motor Truck

John Price, 7, 1184 71 street, is in the Royal Alexandra hospital as a result of being hit by a truck driven by Fred Fetzer, of Clyde, at 115 avenue and 7 street at noon Wednesday. Dr. Hank Craig, who happened to drive by shortly after the accident, took the boy to hospital in his car. She had sustained a slight injury to his head and an injured arm, and X-rays were to be taken of his head Wednesday afternoon to determine if any other injuries are present.

No Details Of Refunding Plan

While negotiations for the refunding of Alberta's provincial debt of $96,000,000 are going forward, they have not yet arrived at a point where any details have been discussed, according to Hon. Solon E. Low, provincial treasurer.

"Many considerations naturally enter into the important problem, and until a general understanding of policy has been reached it will be impossible to consider any details whatever," he said.

ings through which the conclave will communicate its wants. All supplies will pass through the wheels. The wheels operate on the principle of "slot deposit" doors in banks but are larger.

LIKELY ITALIAN

On the eve of the conclave, authoritative church opinion was agreed only that the new pope probably will be an Italian in accordance with the tradition established after the death of Adrian VI, a Dutchman who was elected in 1522.

Vatican experts on procedure, who studied traditions and unwritten regulations governing elections of a pope during the past 100 years, predicted that the new pontiff likely would be chosen from the names of 10 Italian cardinals.

They are:

Jose Dalla Costa, 67, archbishop of Florence

Luigi Lavitrano, 65, archbishop of Palermo.

Alessio Ascalesi, 67, archbishop of Naples.

Maurilio Fossati, 63, archbishop of Turin.

Giovanni Nasalli-Rocca, 67, archbishop of Bologna.

Of this group Cardinal Costa was regarded in many quarters as being the most favored because his evangelical career has not linked him with any rightist or leftist tendencies.

Missing Miner Believed Dead

PRINCETON, B.C., March 1— Robert Davidson is given up for dead with return of a search party that covered 50 miles of mountainous snow-drifted terrain west of here for trace of the 28-year-old miner who disappeared three weeks ago.

Game Warden Harry Morgan of Princeton, who headed the five-man party, said Davidson apparently met death when within a half mile of the safety of a mountain camp.

CANADA WILL HAVE FIXED CATTLE QUOTA

U.S. President Signs Proclamation Giving Canada Preference

OTTAWA March 1—Canada will have a fixed share of 66.2 per cent. of the United States quota on imports of live cattle of 700 pounds or more, W. D Euler said in the house of commons Tuesday.

The trade minister told members of the signing in Washington by President Roosevelt of the proclamation fixing Canada's share of the quota, a provision of the Canada-United States trade agreement.

YEARLY QUOTA

In the treaty the U. S. a yearly quota of 225,000 head to all countries, 80,000 in each of the first three quarters of the year and 45,000 in the fourth quarter. Imports from Mexico used up 55 per cent. of the first quarter quota a few weeks and Canada had only 7 per cent.

Under the proclamation signed today Canada will be able to ship 31,720 cattle into the U.S. in each of the 60,000 quarters with all other countries limited to 8,280. Canada also may switch her third and fourth quotas to suit her needs.

TO SHIP 142,320

In the nine months starting April 1 Canada will be able to ship 142,320 head into the United States and all other countries 22,770. The sharing of quotas between Canada and Mexico, the only other country shipping into the U.S., was based on their percentage of imports into the U.S. from the two countries during 1936 and 1937.

Announcement Hailed As Great Relief

CALGARY, March 1.—The Washington government announcement allocating 66.2 per cent of United States cattle imports to Canada's production was hailed Tuesday as a great relief to Alberta feeders by D. A. MacKenzie, Dominion livestock marketing representative.

Alberta has the bulk of feedlot cattle in western Canada with a surplus estimated at 10,000 cattle at the present time, said Mr. MacKenzie. These cattle are marketable in the second quarter, when the United export allowable to the United States is 31,720 head.

The announcement "will relieve Alberta of many rumors that from 10,000 to 20,000 Mexican cattle were sent over the border in bond for release in the United States market when the next quarter quota of 60,000 head begins April 1," he added.

Ranchers became uneasy about two weeks ago when it was announced the United States first quarter quota of 60,000 head at a duty of 1½ cents a pound had been filled. About 55 per cent. of the 60,000 head of cattle were exported to the United States from Mexico, Calgary livestock men said.

Southern Albertans Happy Over Decision

LETHBRIDGE, March 1 — The Washington announcement that Canada would be allowed 66.2 per cent of cattle imports into the United States for the remainder of 1939 made southern Alberta livestock men happy today.

"It is good news to the cattle industry as it will help our marketing problem," said W. C. McKenzie, manager of the southern Alberta Co-operative Association, director of the Canadian Council of Agriculture and head of the livestock division, Alberta Co-operative Council.

With quite a few cattle still to be marketed this spring, the announcement came at a time when export shipments were held up because the first quarterly quota of 60,000 cattle at 1½ cents duty had been filled, Mr. McKenzie added.

R. L. McMillan, well-known Picture Butte feeder, said "It is much better than I expected," when informed Canada's quota for the next quarter would be more than 31,000 head.

"It is a God send to the western cattle producer We have nothing to fear. This quota will take all our surplus cattle." Mr. McMillan added that he has 900 head of cattle, weighing 1,400 pounds, for the market.

"This is great news for stockmen as the 66.2 per cent quota meets our situation splendidly," said D. P. Mc-Daniels, old-time Calgary district rancher.

Economists Say Both Democracy, Capitalism In Peril

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Three economists contended before the United States monopoly committee yesterday that Capitalism was in danger of destroying Democracy as well as itself through monopolistic practices.

John T. Flynn, of New York; Professor Frank A. Fetter of Princeton University; and William J. Ballinger, economic advisor to the Federal Trade Commission, all agreed United States business must change its course or accept some form of authoritarian government.

Flynn contended the building industry provided an example of an investment goods industry in which "monopolistic practices had boosted prices and caused buyers to stay out of the market."

The urge to "sell off" a policeman often assails John Citizen, but usually the urge is curbed by common sense. Not so with the man on Jasper avenue between the downtown section early Wednesday morning, however.

When he was half-way across the street his companions heard a warning to him that there was a policeman standing on a safety corner.

"Why should I give a d----- put a cop?" he roared back at them.

Until he came out with the crack he wasn't doing so bad but the remark drew the patrolman like a magnet.

A little more "smart Alec" stuff when the officer tried to persuade him to go home and he was good boy was the last straw. Into the cooler he went, and a charge of creating a disturbance brought him to the police court at 10 a.m. He pleaded not guilty, but he wasted his time. He was fined $5 and costs with the option of 10 days.

POWER STANDBY FROM SOUTH IS CUT FROM CITY

Standby power from the Calgary Power Company's hydro plant at Ghost River was cut off at midnight Tuesday, it was learned Wednesday from City Commissioner R. J. Gibb.

Though the charge in the wires has been cut off, no wires or transformers are to be removed for the present, it was stated by the commissioner, as the company wishes to discuss proposals for the new interchange agreement.

The city's new 15,000-kilowatt turbo-generator now in the wires, raising the plant's capacity to 60,000 kilowatts.

For the past 16 months the city has paid $52,000 for standby service from the company but has not needed to avail itself of power from this source.

G. H. Thompson, manager of the Calgary Power company, was in Edmonton Tuesday and was present when the current was cut.

The company has made a new proposal for power interchange, which will be discussed when the city has a report from R. G. Watson, plant superintendent. The company would defer further additions to apparatus for both concerns, which would be needed within three or five years. The expansion both for the company and the city could be postponed for an additional five years, it is claimed.

Credit Issue

forts of the Alberta government to take such action.

W. Gray, Alberta Liberal leader submitted an amendment, which was defeated by 44 to seven. Mr. Duggan voted with the government on this, following failure in his contention that the amendment was a substitute motion and therefore was ultra vires.

CLAIMS ACTION TAKEN

Mr. Gray's amendment declared the federal government had completed making the Bank of Canada a publicly-owned institution and was taking steps toward complete control of currency issue and declared the federal government had greatly increased currency and credit in Alberta and declared that the legislature expressed approval of progress made.

With the Liberal amendment defeated, S. A. G. Barnes, Independent S.C., Edmonton, proposed another amendment urging establishment of a provincial bank pending implementation of the currency and credit request either by the Dominion or Alberta governments. It was defeated 42 to four.

VOTE WITH GOVERNMENT

Liberals voted with the government on the Barnes amendment after Gerald O'Connor, Liberal, commotion, explained that the Liberals had to oppose the amendment because it did not remove from Edmonton the charges of failure on the part of the federal government. Three other Independent Social Credit members—A. E. MacGillan, Innisfail, Charles Cockroft, Stettler, and A. L. Blue, Ribstone—supported Mr. Barnes. The Liberals voting with the government were J. H. Gremblay, Grouard; J. J. Bowlen, Calgary; Roy Gray, Mr. O'Connor and Dr. Walter Morrish, Edmonton.

Dr. Peter Campbell, Unity, Dr. Cambridge, Other members of the legislature were absent when the vote was taken.

NO CONFIDENCE

Moving his motion, Mr. MacMillan declared that if the Dominion government would issue debt free money to work and wages proper, "the people are not rich enough" are confident that in a short time they will learn they must go the rest of the way and pay the dividend."

Shortage of purchasing power is the greatest problem of society, he said.

He contends that "the money policy of the dominion is what is shaking Confederation to its foundation."

He recalled the prior to the 1935 Dominion election Premier Mackenzie King had promised in the course of a Saskatchewan address that the next parliament would be elected by a battle between the people and the money power.

WAS SERIOUS

He felt that Mr. King was serious in making this statement and that he intended to keep his promise, but that he found he could not. "I am sure," said Mr. MacMillan, "that if the legislature assembled we were behind him in the battle with the money power, it would give him confidence and if all legislatures passed resolutions similar to this it would be a great help to him.

"If Mr. King had said that he would have a conference with the money powers after the election, he would have thought nothing of it. But he said there would be a battle. Perhaps he hesitated in joining battle because he was blocked by people in his own party more interested in the money power than in the people."

Mr. MacMillan contended that shortage of purchasing power was the main problem confronting the people today.

The problem, he said, had been attacked from every angle but the right one.

CAME FROM HERE

He recalled that reference had been made previously in the house to the fact that the wheat bonus last year had meant about $22,500,000 to Alberta farmers. We're glad to receive this money, but it has been proven that you can't distribute purchasing power through industry."

He recalled that at least one third of the total wheat bonus coming to this province, would go to mortgage companies, land companies and others, in payment of their share of the crops. In the second place he said, this bonus was paying power, rather than purchasing power, as it would go to pay debts already contracted instead of for new purchases and the whole thing was to be paid offices of companies in the east.

Mr. MacMillan declared that each year the Dominion government took from Alberta by way of income tax, customs and excise and other levies, about $40,000,000 a year, which went to show that the $22,500,000 paid in a wheat bonus, really was collected here in the first place.

Profits taken by machine, mortgage and other companies all went to eastern Canada and there were local purchasing power, he declared, for income tax and therefore eastern governments derived large revenue from the west.

OTHER SOURCES

Also there was inheritance and other taxes imposed in the east which were largely based on wealth made as a result of western effort.

Lack of purchasing power was 99 per cent of the trouble of people today, he said.

Answering criticisms for not implementing election promises, Mr. Duggan declared that he himself and he was sure others always pointed out that the promises made were made before the government would have control of its own currency and credit.

"If control of currency and credit is in the hands of the banks, we can't fulfill our promises and neither can anyone else," he said.

He stood solidly behind as a solution for existing difficulties. These treaties, he said, had been operative for 20 years and if they were good for 70 years and thus far had failed the cure, the problems would have been solved long ago.

Public ownership was not a solution to present difficulties so long as control of currency and credit remained in private monopoly.

GREAT HELP

He declared that the development of the west was the greatest contribution that had been made to eastern prosperity.

An unemployment insurance plan was not the solution, as employed people were forced to pay in part of his earnings.

If an employer contributed, this contribution would be added to his costs and if the province contributed, it would have to tax the employer in order to make that contribution.

As a start, Mr. MacMillan said he would like to see the Dominion government would issue money in terms of public need.

SECONDS MOTION

N. B. James, S.C., Acadia, in seconding the motion, pointed to news reports of large expenditures for a British naval program, but never very little was available to end poverty. If the Dominion government did not act on the motion, he hoped the opposition would forever be on criticism.

Answering criticisms of federal policy, Mr. Gray declared the Dominion government had completed necessity of a publicly-owned central bank. When it went into power, the government owned 51 per cent of the bank of Canada's stock and last year took over all the stock. Issue of currency had been increased by reduced by 10 per cent annually, he said. No one wanted currency issued by "Hitler tactics," he added.

Dr. H. K. Brown, S.C., Pembina, said a similar resolution to the one proposed by Mr. MacMillan had been defeated by the Manitoba legislature two years ago, while I. M. McCune, S.C., Gleichen, asked why Canada had gone to New York to finance while it could have been done in the dominion.

Mr. Barnes, in urging adoption of his amendment proposing a provincial bank, declared it would give the province the right to issue credit tender acceptable in any part of Canada. The bank could do a general banking business and also have a rural credits department, insurance branch, etc.

The bank would be under the control of provincial legislation and no unorthodox methods of banking would be employed. In time, he said, the bank should be able to finance the government in times of need and the people of Alberta would be able to live within themselves.

Homer Martin Will Face Impeachment Charges March 11

RIEL REBELLION VETERAN VISITS CITY ON JOURNEY

Thomas McKone, farmer near Neepawa Man., a veteran of the Riel rebellion of 1885, a member of the protecting forces of old Fort Edmonton at the height of the uprising, and who took part in the capture of Big Bear and his Indians at Fort Pitt, in July, was a visitor in Edmonton last week. He is 73 years old.

On his way to his home, accompanied by Mrs. McKone, he had been visiting at the Pacific coast. He joined the Queen's Light Infantry at the age of 18, and after six weeks' training he was sent to Calgary and was a member of Colonel Strange's column ordered to march to Edmonton to defend the fort against a threatened Indian attack, but the attack was never made.

Following the Frog Lake massacre, the Edmonton column after spending six weeks here and went to Fort Pitt, near Battleford, where Big Bear and his followers surrendered on July 2.

Wings North

Many a story has come out of the north about the adventures of the pilots who pioneered the air trails down the Mackenzie and into the new mining areas. But one of the best—and least known—is one told by "Wop" May of Bill Spence.

• • • •

It was back in the summer of 1931. Bill was making a flight from an outlying property back to the main base. While still 120 miles from home he noticed the engine was overheating. Landing on one of the many lakes that dotted the country he discovered that the lubricating oil in his Fairchild was almost out of oil.

• • • •

He had no extra oil with him and the closest supply was at the main base 120 miles away. He recalled the stories told so often of motorists, who, finding their automobiles short on oil, had raised the level by pouring water into the crankcase. Bill decided what was sauce for the goose would be okay for the gander, so he poured some good clear cold northern lake water into the oil tank.

• • • •

It worked, amazingly enough. He took it in easy hops, about 10 to 15 miles each. He drained it as soon as he arrived back at port, and, believe it or not, the motor was none the worse for the experience.

• • • •

Bob Randall, M.A.S., arrived in from the north Tuesday afternoon in the Bellanca with one passenger, mail and express.

OIL NOT NOTED IN BIG AMOUNTS REPORT STATES

Oil and gas search developments along the Alberta-Saskatchewan boundary were noted in the annual report of the Alberta Research Council for 1938, which has been made available to members of the legislature. The report states that no substantial quantities of oil were indicated.

The report states that: "Considerable interest has again arisen over the natural gas and petroleum possibilities along the Alberta-Saskatchewan boundary in the area including the Lloydminster and Ribstone properties, but if they were to be developed on a large scale for the benefit of the province would have to be supplied from proven gas fields further to the west in Alberta."

CHARTER BILLS IN LEGISLATURE

Six bills were given first reading in the legislature on Tuesday, including amending bills to the city charters of Edmonton, Calgary and Lethbridge. Premier William Aberhart introduced a bill amending the school act.

D. M. Duggan, Alberta Conservative leader, introduced a bill providing for amendments to the Edmonton city charter.

Mrs. Edith Gostick, S.C. Calgary, moved first reading of the Calgary charter amendments and Dr. Peter Campbell, Unity, Lethbridge, moved the bill for the Lethbridge amendments.

Fred Anderson, S.C., Calgary, introduced two private bills. One deals with the Wheat Pool Act, respecting methods of voting and the other is for an extension of Calgary and South Western Railway Company charter. This brings the total number of bills before the house to 39.

Inquest Finds Man Poisoned At Hairy Hill

Coroner's jury sitting at Vegreville Tuesday to inquire into the circumstances surrounding the death of Peter Stelko, Hairy Hill grain merchant, at his home on February 8, decided that his death was caused by strychnine administered by persons unknown.

Lance-Corporal W. McDonald, R. C. M. P., stated that 1.7 grains of the poison has been found in the man's stomach upon post-mortem examination. Other leading witnesses were the widow of the dead man and Dr. W. A. Shandro, who attended him. Coroner was Dr. R. M. Reid.

Jewish Refugees Sail In Defiance Of Regulations

CONSTANZA, Rumania, Feb. 28—The Pama steamship Kepo sailed from this Black Sea port with 1,000 Jewish refugees Monday without being cleared by port authorities. Officials, mystified by the failure to observe requirements, said there would be complications if the vessel, presumably bound for Palestine, attempted to discharge her passengers there.

Search Abandoned

Although police are still on the watch for any traces of Peter Green, 70, blind inmate of St. Joseph's hospital who disappeared from the hospital some time during the night of February 15, and since been missing, organized search for him has been abandoned, it was said Tuesday.

Retiring president Mr. Chrismas was appointed to represent the local branch as associate director on the Edmonton exhibition board for the coming year.

J. H. Pavey, W. Muir and Mr. Chrismas were named to represent the association on the civic industrial committee for 1939.

Members to represent the Edmonton branch on the provincial executive, provincial legislation and provincial membership committees, which will be subject to approval at the Alberta branch annual meeting in Calgary in April, also were nominated.

"If manufacturing is to assume the important position it should in Alberta," said Mr. Chrismas, "the great number of restrictive license fees imposed on our industries will have to be curtailed considerably.

GIVE EMPLOYMENT

"Local industries mean employment for many of our citizens, who, in turn, are enabled to pay taxes and rent, and other financial obligations. Surely under present conditions, they should be allowed to flourish without undue obstacles and hampering restrictions being placed in their path.

"The present policy of encouragement and assistance towards capital and industry is fairly carried out, I am confident that further industrial expansion will follow in Alberta, and that more and more of our citizens will find profitable employment.

"Regulation of manufacturing enterprises should be confined to ensuring fairness of fair and open competition, together with protection of the rights of others.

"I am of the opinion that wherever regulation of manufacturing enterprises is imposed by the government, it should be embodied in specific laws, as clear and concise in so far as possible, by the established executive departments of the government.

"Manufacturing in Edmonton is increasing satisfactorily, as the latest figures published by the government of Ottawa in 1936 reveal 168 establishments gave employment to 4,018 people, and paid them in salaries and wages $4,429,784. The gross value of the products turned out was $23,262,-664, while the cost of materials used was $15,406,130. Generally speaking, the level of manufacturing production in 1936 was materially higher than in the previous year, the increase in the gross value of production being approximately 8.2 per cent.' said Mr. Chrismas.

"The efficient production and distribution of goods essential to maintain and improve the standard of living increasingly depends upon intelligent co-operation between employers and employees.

COMMON INTERESTS

"The recognition of their common interests, and a fair dealing by both these parties, upon a basis of equal responsibilities, are essential to such co-operation. Co-operation can only be established on a basis of mutual confidence, and mutual confidence can never be legislated.

"While as the manufacturing industry have had our share of problems and complexities, the past year, I think, has been reasonably successful.

"If businessmen keep their perspective, I see no reason why industry in Edmonton should not continue to improve steadily. Our great advantages are human—our system of government—the vision and ability of our business leaders—the intelligence and ambition of labor—and, with all its faults, our social and economic organization—it is on these our country was built—it is on them recovery depends," concluded Mr. Chrismas.

A musical program was presented by Jack Miller and Arthur Fleming.

MISTAKE is DEATH CAUSE SLAYER SAYS

Wallace Mackie, Of Rich Lake, Committed For Murder J. Horosko

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

LAC LA BICHE, March 1. — Wallace Mackie, Rich Lake district farmer, was committed for trial on a charge of murdering John Horosko, farmer-neighbor, by Magistrate A. U. LaBell, following a preliminary hearing at which 30 witnesses testified. Horosko's death occurred Dec. 31.

J. W. McClung, crown prosecutor for the Edmonton judicial district, acted for the crown, with Hugh Calais Macdonald, K.C., for the accused.

SAYS MISTAKE

A statement given by the accused to the police was admitted in evidence. This set out that the accused had mistaken the deceased for John Waine, with whom he had a fight on October 17, 1938, at a dance at the Lac La Biche Memorial hall. The fight was over a district school teacher, whose favor both men sought.

In his statement the accused stated that he was afraid when he saw a man who looked like Waine coming towards him in the dark that he was about to be attacked again, and he hit him over the head with a bottle, knocking him unconscious.

DISPLAYS EMOTION

Throughout the trial the accused followed the evidence with interest, and on many occasions displayed considerable emotion.

A number of witnesses testified that the accused had made threats to get even with Waine for the assault.

A statement made by Azel Mackie, brother of the accused, that he had helped the accused to place Horosko on his sleigh after he had been knocked out was admitted also.

Mrs. Howey received her entire education in Edmonton and was very active in old timers' affairs. She was well known in musical circles.

Bank Governor Dies

SYDNEY, Australia, March 1.—Sir Ernest Riddle, 65, governor of the Commonwealth bank of Australia from 1927 until his retirement last year, died Tuesday.

$1,254,393 IS 1939 COST FOR CITY SCHOOLS

Requests from the city of Edmonton by the Edmonton Public school board to meet estimated expenditures for 1939 will be the same as last year, $1,254,393, it was reported by the finance committee at a meeting of the board Tuesday evening. The entire financial report, presented by Dr. Walter Morrish, M.L.A., was accepted.

Resume of the budget follows: financial charges, $180,000; administration expenses, $29,694; instructional expense, salaries, $961,730; instructional expenses, supplies, $31,-400; medical and dental services, $31,940; operation of buildings, $116,842; maintenance of buildings and equipment, $81,710; miscellaneous including taxes, accident claims, insurance, etc., $31,466, making a total of $1,473,332.

Total revenue including government grants of $100,07?, non-resident fees, $14,000; rental of schools, $1,200; fees, evening classes, $1,200; salary contributions, 102,239, make the gross expenditure, $1,254,393.

Dr. Morrish, M.L.A., brought up the question of the new teachers' pension act now before the house and ready for its third reading. He feel almost certain that it will pass unanimously and come into effect on September 30 in the face of it with our system which gives the teachers more than the $25 proposed by the government, we should make some negotiation towards taking the $25 off of the amount in our own scheme," he stated.

"We shall have to collect the money for the provincial government from the teachers' salaries to the extent of three per cent, and this amount will be deducted from our yearly grant in a check-off system," he explained.

Dr. G. D. Misener, representative of the high school teachers of the Alberta Teachers' Alliance, asked the board if it would be advisable if the question were taken up with the teachers and their suggestions communicated to the board.

The board agreed that this course be followed before any action is taken.

"I will cost me three per cent of my salary, which I understand will be split up into 1½ per cent and one per cent, the latter to be paid by the teachers retiring immediately," Dr. Misener said.

Requests for school board grants to community leagues for skating rinks, upon the motion of Trustee Ottewell were referred to the finance committee with the authority to take it up with the City Commissioners, and with a view to having that department take over the whole responsibility of the grant.

Peace in Spain

The Republic of Spain has officially ceased to exist. President Azana has proclaimed his resignation. General Franco has been recognized by thirty-odd countries as the governing power, France and Britain in turn giving the final and decisive acknowledgement. The war is over actually and in process of being ended formally. It ends in complete defeat and submission of the former Government, however the fact may be disguised under the name of armistice.

The Spanish people will at least and at last have relief from the savage torture of war. For that they must be thankful, bitter as the vanquished may feel at the loss of a popular form of government. Almost any type of authority that can preserve order and permit the forces of reconstruction to get under way is likely to be acceptable in the circumstances even by those who have been its enemies.

The completeness of Franco's victory makes that probable, almost inevitable. Guerrilla warfare is hardly likely to continue on any wide scale, since it would be hopeless. The decisiveness of the outcome is for that reason fortunate.

Trying to Get Rid of Them

Herr Goebbels and his associates have done a right-about on the subject of letting the Jews out of Germany. A few weeks ago they were demanding a bribe for each Jew permitted to leave the country, in the shape of an order from abroad for German goods. Now they are telling the Jews they must get out at the rate of 100 a day, issuing passports galore, and leaving it to the migrants to find out where they can go, with nothing said about foreign orders for German goods.

There are a few things the Nazis cannot do. One is to suspend the law of cause and effect. They robbed the Jews and then told foreigners they would have to ransom them. The foreigners didn't. Now the Nazis don't know what to do with their victims. They are more anxious to get these out of their sight than other governments are to multiply their unemployment troubles by inviting or accepting large migrations of immigrants. But, while they can drive one of the persecuted ones to the border, they cannot compel some other country to admit him. What are they to do; resort to mass murder? Hardly.

There is a way out of the difficulty, which the Nazi headmen know quite well. If they gave back the money they stole from the Jews, these could pay their passages to other countries and establish themselves, and would be permitted to do so. One of these days Nazi necessity may prove even stronger than Nazi greed. Then they will offer to finance the transplanting of the unwanted people to other lands—which would solve the difficulties of all concerned.

The "East Side"

Parliament got a glimpse at the "east side" of the wheat bonus question on Monday. Two members, representing farming areas in Ontario and Quebec, registered a protest against their constituents being taxed to pay a subsidy on every bushel of wheat grown in western Canada. Farmers in those areas, they said, got 50 cents a bushel for last year's wheat, with no bonus from the Government, and had to pay part of the fifty cents to make up the Government's loss on western "pegged" wheat.

This does not make good reading in the west. But, whether we like it or not, that is how the eastern farmer—and the eastern townman also—looks at the blanket bonus on western wheat. There is plenty to be said on the other side, but they do not pay any attention to it. What they are concerned about is that the Government has lost $48,000,000 by pegging western wheat, which sum they have to help pay.

It is easy to say this is a narrow view. It is. Indirectly, it may be argued, the east benefits from the bonus more than the coast eastern taxpayers. It is apparent enough to westerners that western agriculture would collapse if the wheat-grower [illegible] Coupon on present world [illegible] Edmonton [illegible]

"pegged" price system with no limit to the bushelage on which a western farmer may collect.

Some modification of the bonus system will have to be made. Western members of parliament who refuse to recognize the situation and persist in making extreme demands are inviting trouble for the western wheat grower, though they may be voicing his wishes and think they are championing his interests.

Bidding for Franco

Great Britain, and France in less measure, are being roundly condemned for giving official recognition to Franco's mastery in Spain. Their Governments are under fire of critics at home, and are censured in some quarters abroad for having let democracy "down" by admitting the overthrow of the popularly elected authority. Franco's victory is held — and with good ground—to be a victory for Mussolini and Hitler; to be followed by the erection of a Fascist state on the border of France and at the gateway to the Mediterranean.

There is only too much reason to suppose this will be the outcome. But it may not be. Franco victorious may be different from Franco the leader of a rebellion, desperately in need of help and glad to get it from any quarter. He may turn out to be a Spaniard after all—and tell Il Duce and the Fuehrer so. That apparently is what Mr. Chamberlain and M. Daladier have been banking on. It must be hoped they are right; despite the weight of probability.

In any case, the negative assistance Britain and France gave Franco is not in recognizing his victory after he had won, but was in clinging to the pretence that the international non-intervention pact was being observed when they knew better. Mussolini and Hitler were quite willing to risk precipitating a general war in Europe in order to supply Franco with men and munitions. Chamberlain and Daladier were not willing to take that risk, even to the extent of giving the late Government the common right of a belligerent to import arms.

Franco's mastery of Spain is an accomplished fact, however attained. To refuse to recognize the fact would only drive him into permanent alliance with the dictators and dependence upon them. Perhaps recognition, and the hope of favors to come, will induce him to break with them now that he no longer needs their help.

Canadian Balance of International Payments

A substantial credit balance on current account, revealing a net outflow of capital from Canada, continued to be the outstanding feature of the Canadian balance of international payments, according to the estimate for 1938 recently issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The income of the Dominion from all external sources exceed all the current disbursements made by Canadians in other countries by the substantial surplus of $188,800,000. This is the amount by which net external receipts from merchandise, gold and the tourist trade surpassed current payments abroad for interest and dividends, freight and other services.—Royal Bank of Canada.

Mount Robson Park

In a recent meeting at Prince George, B.C., the Yellowhead Highway Association passed a resolution asking the Dominion government to take over Mount Robson Park, which is now administered by the British Columbia government.

Containing one of the highest and most magnificent peaks of the Canadian Rockies, Mount Robson Park lies along the Alberta border, adjacent to Jasper National Park.

Transfer of its control to the federal government would seem to be a good move. As part of the Dominion's chain of mountain playgrounds it would stand a better chance for development and tourist exploitation than as a purely provincial project.

By completing the motor highway from Jasper to Tete Jaune, which is also requested in the highway association's resolution, the Dominion government could open a new scenic route through the Rockies from Alberta to the Pacific Coast. And the addition of Mount Robson and its surrounding natural beauty would provide added variety and added inducement to visit Jasper Park.

Just as Yoho and Kootenay National Parks add to the drawing power and variety of Banff National Park, so Mount Robson could improve Jasper Park.

In the same connection it might be to the advantage of all concerned if Mount Assiniboine Park, containing the marvellous peaks adjacent to the southern part of Banff Park, were transferred by the British Columbia government to the Dominion for development.—Calgary Albertan.

Two Ways to Peace

By SISLEY HUDDLESTONE

Two theories of peacemaking confront each other in Europe according to one school of political thought, the democratic countries should keep in the closest contact with the totalitarian countries, should never cease to negotiate, and should miss no opportunity of entering into bilateral agreements. According to the other school of political thought, the democratic countries should refuse to talk until they are in a position to fight, and should decline to sign any papers of a partial character as distinct from comprehensive treaties which would secure (it is hoped) the peace of Europe as a whole.

Curiously enough, the French Socialists who have, until lately, always urged negotiations, and have supported all the peace pacts which have been drawn up since the World War, are now the most skeptical. On the Nationalist side, there is a general desire to come to terms.

The argument against tete-a-tete conversations and bilateral accords is that they may be used to immobilize the democratic countries while the totalitarian countries pursue their designs elsewhere. Thus Italy makes friends with England at the same time as it reveals its claims on France; apparently with the object of obtaining British support, or at any rate British neutrality, in its quarrel with France. Germany similarly establishes relations of good neighborliness with France precisely at the moment when it verbally attacks England.

If one regards the policy of bilateral accords purely as a somewhat cynical diplomatic game, it is obvious that there are many advantages for the Rome-Berlin axis in separating France and England from each other, and in detaching them both from Eastern Europe. Italy has already gained a breathing space in Munich, apparently preventing the war over Czecho-Slovakia between Germany on one side and France and England on the other; and while it enbled Germany to get enormous benefits, it too received from the great democratic countries a substantial reward in the shape of official recognition of the Abyssinian conquest. Now that Germany is the friend of France, will it not in its turn interpose its good offices between France and Italy in order to obtain for Italy various concessions?

If this were indeed the purpose of such seesaw diplomacy, it would be impossible to deny a certain cleverness of Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini. But there is, according to the critics of the Franco-German agreement, still more behind. It has become clear that Germany is preparing to back up the independence of the Ukraine.

Against such diplomatic methods the other school of thought argues that if countries are to remain "enemies" until they agree on every subject, including those which are remote from the interests of one of them, then war does become inevitable. Surely, this school says, it is better to come to whatever agreements are immediately possible, and remove at least some causes of strife, and those the most important. For France to refuse the hand which Germany holds out to it would be a blunder; it would put France in the wrong and fasten a dreadful responsibility on it. Nor would it, in perpetuating the Franco-German feud, affect for the better the problem of Eastern Europe.

Nobody knows, though many people pretend to know, Germany's future policy. If it is to be aggressive in the East, it will probably continue to be aggressive despite French opposition—which may precipitate a clash. But if France and Germany have friendly relations, and agree to consult each other, it may well be that French influence, persuasive and peaceful, on the course of events, will not be negligible. Peace is surely worth conquered province by province, and can be won at one fell swoop.

These are the two theories of peacemaking in Europe. Which is right? Or are they both right and partly wrong?—Christian Science Monitor.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

While other nations have been limiting the freedom of the press, Great Britain is amending the Official Secrets Act of 1920, to further assure freedom to the British press. Under the Official Secrets Act the authorities were given power to interrogate a suspect, so that he could virtually be made to convict himself. From this, certain authorities claimed the right to make a Manchester reporter divulge the name of a police official who had given him information about a certain memorandum.

The new bill, introduced first in the House of Lords owing to press of business in the Commons, restricts those special powers of interrogation to cases of espionage only. It affirms the common law right of the press to refuse to divulge sources of information, save those calculated to be directly or indirectly useful to an enemy.

Britain still remains the home of liberty of speech and freedom of the press.

After having expropriated the oil-wells of American and British companies in Mexico, President Cardenas has issued a new order, expropriating 50,000 acres of American-owned sugar land in the State of Sinaloa, owned by the United Sugar Company and its subsidiaries.

MEXICO TAKES SUGAR LANDS

Steps are being taken to expropriate the lands, docks, warehouses, railway station and loading spurs of the British-owned Vera Cruz Terminal Company.

Cardenas is fulfilling his promise of last winter to distribute 571,850 acres among the 44,000 peasants employed in the cane fields. The decree states that living costs in the region are so high, workers are unable to obtain the comforts to which they are entitled.

The companies will receive compensation in due course—probably on the low valuations they had placed on the properties for taxation purposes—but in another land-mark in a changing world.

Add to the curious definitions of "cruelty" for divorce purposes, that of Joan Crawford, the movie actress. Charging treatment "in an inhuman manner causing great mental suffering and distress" on the part of her husband, Franchet Tone, details of this inhuman cruelty are given. Mr. Tone, it appears, insisted that his wife go out with him socially on many evenings, and sulked and became angry when she suggested that he cancel his social engagements and stay home.

Most wives complain that their husbands do not take them out with them of evenings. How many ladies—not married to the gentleman—would think it inhuman cruelty to have to go places of an evening with the debonair Mr. Tone?

A new implied attack upon irrevocable marriage in United States comes from the women of the Protestant Episcopal church—which forbids the marriage of divorced persons. A committee of the Women's Auxiliary is sending a questionnaire to all women communicants "to learn their thought regarding marriage and divorce." They ask whether the respondent favors amendment, elimination or retention of the present church canon on marriage, divorce and annulment. Results will be sent to the next triennial church conference "for guidance."

Another sign of changing times in the most conservative of Protestant communions.

GETTERS AND GIVERS

Ours is a class-conscious day, and we hear dangerously overmuch about the "capitalist class" and "the working class." The distinction is not clear, and is often gravely misleading.

How would it do were we to divide human society into two more definite classes, the Getters and the Givers? That would mean a realignment; for getters and givers are to be found in the ranks of both capital and labor.

These master motives, of getting and of giving, of selfishness and of altruism, are easily perceived. They mark the difference between the real heathen and the real Christian.

Wearing Thy Cross, O Christ, we would live self-spending lives. Thou not being ministered unto, but ministering. Amen.

Much is heard from time to time about Chinese guerrillas and how they harass the Japanese armies. Only a small percentage are bandits and even the latter are loyal to China. The fact is that a very large percentage of the guerrillas are Chinese farmers determined to do all they can to save their country from being conquered by the Japanese. They are a sort of militia, and they are both brave and clever. They are largely officered by young Chinese, many of whom were educated in this country.—Duluth Herald.

Another Protest

Editor, Bulletin: Please let me add my protest along with "Through the Mill" and "Another Protest" on the young man, who bought a bed and a heater to make things more comfortable for his wife, who was about to become a mother and neglected to include some in the report of his earnings on relief. Hence the 60 days. I should like to ask Mr. E. B. Cogswell, K.C., in his duty to the City of Edmonton and Magistrate Millar, have you no heart, no human understanding?

While I do agree there are those that will take advantage of relief, why not use the understanding that Our Master was made of in passing sentence? If I found one, on relief, in the best parlor, he would be sentenced plenty—but in this case the young man hadn't committed any unpardonable sin—his thoughts and actions concerned someone he loved. Why be harsh in the judgment?

Hard Case

Editor, Bulletin: In spite of the many disappointments and rebukes because of letters I have written to the attorney general and the Debt Adjustment Board, I still think laws are enacted and administered primarily as an instrument of justice for citizens.

In August, 1938, a family came to my farm and wanted to buy it. I told them I wanted $20.00 per acre with cash payment of $1000.00. As they had just come from Roumania they wanted to buy equipment with the farm, so I sold them horses, cattle, implements and poultry and told them I should have $5.00 per acre extra for the equipment. They then wanted to buy it with the crop, which was ready to cut, so I agreed to take $4.00 for the crop (which turned out between 2,000 and 2,500 bushels of wheat and 20 acres of oats, the wheat being worth between 50 cents and $1 per bushel), making $29.00 per acre complete. Nothing further was said about cash payment. Later in the fall they paid $1,000.00 and finally to make up the other $1,500.00 of the cash payment they mortgaged the stock and equipment without my knowledge and got the $1,500.00 to finish the down payment agreed on.

When the wheat was sold they gave me half the crop and made a land agreement on January 1, 1938, owing me $6,000.00 to be paid in half crop payments, with interest at 6 per cent. Since then they have defaulted on every clause of the agreement and the only money I have got is $139.65 paid through the Debt Adjustment Board in 1938 from the 1932 crop. Taxes have been left in arrears and consolidated.

Two years ago they left the place and rented it. This year they came here and got 1-3 of the grain and never allowed me anything nor cleared the taxes. I sent the Debt Adjustment Board $10.00 and the first letter I got suggested I pay $700.00 mortgage and the next thought perhaps $100.00 might do some good.

My brother-in-law wrote to Mr. Aberhart about this deal and he had a letter from Mr. Maynard in which he said he would look into the case but as yet nothing has been said. I sent the Debt Adjustment Board a note, given me in 1928, which the giver found it convenient to forget about. I wrote him a letter as advised by the Deb. Adjustment Board and got no reply from it. The letter from the Debt Adjustment Board saying I might settle the $700.00 mortgage for less also shows how good his credit is with people who know him. I only mention these things so you may see why I am poor from dishonest.

I have been renting since I sold my farm and last spring I lost the place I was on because it was sold. I was not able to put in a crop last summer and so have found it very hard to carry on and have no money to prosecute my claim, but the Debt Adjustment Board seems to think I should pay, when it seems to me the other party should pay.

In taking the 1-3 grain share it seems to me they took what belonged to me. In some countries peoples' means of livelihood are taken away by banks and earthquakes while in Alberta mine has been taken by more subtle means. Many people think our legislators have been too prolific in making laws. It would seem from the above they should make some more, or perhaps better still, repeal many which have already been enacted.

On This Date

By FRED WILLIAMS

Seventy years ago a number of laymen of the Church of England in Canada took alarm at what they considered the spread of "ritualism" in Canada and especially in the diocese of Toronto. On March 1, 1869, it was announced that the Church of England Evangelistic Association had been formed. Dean Grasett was the president; Archdeacon Fuller, Rev. Canon Givens, Professor Daniel Wilson (afterwards Sir Daniel, president of the University of Toronto) and Homer Dixon, vice-president; Canon Baldwin and F. W. Kingstone, Q.C., secretaries. Herbert Mortimer, treasurer, with a managing committee of Archdeacon Boddy and other laity, including Hon. S. H. Blake, Dr. J. G. Hodgins and Robert Baldwin.

The manifesto at once issued an appeal to the laity, addressed to "the lay members of the Church of England and Ireland in the Diocese of Toronto." It was a call to the delegates to the synod to "strenuously oppose ritualism." Special pressure was brought to bear upon delegates known to be strictly evangelical. The next year this organization merged with the Church association, which waged a strenuous campaign for the maintenance of "the principles of the Protestant Reformation."

Flaherty: "So it's your silver wedding anniversary, is it? That's good going, old boy."

Flanagan: "Aye, that's the first twenty-five years of it over, anyway."

Man (to wife): "What do you mean by saying I have been deceiving you for years?"

Wife: "I just found out the government allows you $2,500 a year on your income tax for being married and you only allow me a miserable $10 a month."

STORM PERILS LIVES OF FOLK ON TORY ISL

Priest Radios For Help Says Parishioners May Starve

DUBLIN, March 1.—A priest on lonely, stormbound Tory Island, off the Donegal coast, last night radioed asking aid for his hungry parishioners whose plight he said is "critical."

Father Charles McFadden said the inhabitants of the island have been without supplies for a month and asked for a ton of flour, supplies of oatmeal, potatoes, sugar, butter and tobacco.

He said that "unless help arrives within three days our position, already critical, will be desperate."

As Dail members here urged haste in efforts to rescue the distressed islanders, whose exact number was not immediately known, a storm swept mountainous seas against Tory and made boat landings impossible.

For a fortnight boats have been standing by Bunbeg and Meenlaragh awaiting calm seas before venturing a passage of the rocky channel to island docks.

Police said they expected airplanes would be sent to drop food by means of parachutes.

Peer Dies

LONDON, March 1.—Lord Colebrooke, 77, who in October, 1936, was named master of the robes of King Edward VIII, died Tuesday in a London nursing home. He had no heir and the titles become extinct.

WOMEN WANT BEAUTY!

By Louise Holmes

CAST OF CHARACTERS

SUSIE LAMBERT: She served waffles and dreamed of being beautiful.

DICK THORNDIKE: He liked Susie's waffles but he couldn't see Susie.

JEFF BOWMAN: His chief concern was to make Susie as beautiful as she wanted to be.

Yesterday: Susie has nearly finished her beauty program. Already Jeff is interested in her. And Susie is finding an increasing interest in Jeff.

CHAPTER XVII

JEFF went back to the lay-out and Susie, in a series of graceful twirls, made for the piano. Her hands ran across the keys in a flowing crescendo of chords and trills. She had played before in the gymnasium, she had sung quaint little ballads, but it had been nothing like this. Susen and Emma had scarcely noticed her singing before. Now they stood agape in the shower room door as she burst into song.

It was a song of triumph, of exultant youth. Why she sang like that she could not have told. Her voice was rich and deep, it had a faint brokiness that reached the hearts of her two listeners. "And I'd give all the world for just one curve," she sang. "I'm long some, I guess, that's all." The song stopped and she sat there, rapt, tear-filled eyes on her hands.

"I'm going to be beautiful tomorrow," she thought. "When Dick comes he'll find a beautiful." On the joy of the almost unendurable joy.

Susen came to the piano with typewritten pages. His work was done. He had written instructions and she must follow them to the letter. Diet list, exercises, facial and weekly massage.

Thanking him, Susie put a hand on his arm. "You've been so kind, Susen—and Emma—" looking past him to smile at his wife. "You've both been so patient and good to me."

They said incoherent and embarrassed things. It had been a pleasure—they wanted to see her again —they backed away in confusion.

Left alone in the gymnasium Susie played for an hour, lovely melodies, popular numbers which she had picked up by ear. It was almost Christmas, the happiest Christmas a girl ever had. Would Dick come home for the holidays? If he came would she see him? Somehow her heart she knew the answer. The kind fates could not go so far and then withdraw their gifts.

On the following morning Harker's beauty salon was a beehive of activity. Consultation, confusion and disagreement. Miss Fleming studied Susie, front view and side—she made suggestions as to hair and makeup. White-linen-clad girls and a young man with experienced eyes hovered near, waiting for orders, bustled over their part of the program. Only a few appointments had been made, Susie was to hold the floor for most of the day.

She had arrived at nine wearing a plain little dress loaned by the Misses Lambert, fresh, glowing, eyes dancing with expectancy. By 9:30 the shop had settled down to a routine. The young man with ideas put a permanent wave in Susie's hair. It was done carefully, lovingly. Susie's wave was to outshine anything ever done by young Pierre. At noon she emerged from his booth, a red cover her hair, small squares of cotton under the elastic.

Followed an exacting process. Susie, stretched on a table, eyes closed, closed, gallantly suffered a forest of eyebrows to be removed. The operator was clever, with each pull of the tweezers her fingers pressed the stinging spot. In spite of the care tears squeezed between Susie's lids. At intervals the brows were smoothed with soothing lotion. Susie was given a moment to relax. At last she arose from the table, soaked cotton strapped above her eyes.

At each step the commercial artist was nearby, making idealized sketches. It was the most widely publicized program ever sponsored by Harker's, it was soon to come to a smashing climax.

Susie's lunch was served in a dimly lighted room specially set aside for her. Like a mummy, swathed in white, she lay back on a white lounge and allowed herself to be waited upon. It was like a story from Arabian Nights, it was like a fantastic dream, swiftly coming true for Susie Lambert, who had stolidly served waffles to indifferent youthful patrons, smiled graciously on minions as they hurried about in her behalf, wings of rapture beating in her heart, joy surging upward like the sound of waves.

Jeff came in while she ate chicken breast and thick slices of tomato, her only buttered toast. "Is Prince unfolding her petals?" he asked, sitting beside Susie, somehow making the place cozy and pleasant by his mere presence.

"Oh, Jeff, they are practically hiding me and I love it." Her voice had a thrilled undertone, her eyes shone from under the cotton pads.

He looked down, twisting his hat. "Kane's the boss. He put this campaign over."

"He did not," she countered emphatically. "All the worthwhile ideas came from you. I've hardly seen Mr. Kane. Why, Jeff, there wouldn't have been any today if it hadn't been for you. What's the matter with everybody?"

His laugh was light, a shield against his discouragement. "After all I'm just the errand boy," he said.

"That's not true," she went on, loyally. "Can't Mr. Harker see what you've done? I'll tell him—that's what I'll do."

He took her hand and lifted each finger, letting it fall on his knee, touching the softness of her skin as if he loved it. "The Chief's all right," he said. "He pays me a good salary and I have no complaint. It—it's only that I want you to be my product. I'm just a little jealous of Kane." He looked up with one of his quick smiles. Jeff's smiles always had the same effect on Susie, as if he had caressed her.

"We know, Jeff," she said softly. "We know about the night you saved me from a mailed milk, all the times you've kept me on the right track. I won't forget—ever." Lifting her hand from his she touched his cheek and he turned his head until his lips were against the soft, pink palm. He did not kiss the palm. Instead he rose hastily to his feet.

"You're a great kid, Susie," he said huskily. "Got to be up and at it. No debutante on the day of her coming out ever got more attention."

"Jeff," she hesitated, "I want you to see me first—before Mr. Harker or anybody." She laughed, a little shyly and proud. "I want you to put your stamp of approval on me."

He looked down at her. "I'll be hanging around," he promised.

Susie's head was bobbed away. She was taken to a light, corner room to be immediately surrounded by heads of operators with soft, delicate underthings, cobwebby hose at four dollars a pair, shoes of fine leather and dull suede, gowns, furs, savage hats. Susie was trimmed to skull cape and tailored pancakes, gloves and costume jewelry.

She was fitted and talked over, pins were placed in founda-tion garments to guard against even a wrinkle, the length of her skirt was debated. She stood quietly, turning this way and that, thrilling to the seductive materials, loving their feel on her skin. At last the heads of departments hurried away to shops and alteration rooms, each convinced that her part in the evolution of Susie was the most important.

Again Susie was laid on the table and the thrilling task of final makeup began. A girl sat on a stool beside the table putting the last finishing touches to her nails, while Emily, a plain, tense person with magic in her fingertips, did things to Susie's face. Creams, astringents, warm towels, the shock of ice, gently applied powder base, each step in the procedure a different, delightful odor. Susie lay under the ministering hands, drowsily content, blissfully stirred.

At last Emily's tenseness relaxed and she stepped back. "Look at her," she said to the manicurist. "I never would have believed it."

"Beautiful," the manicurist agreed. "Let me see," Susie begged. "After all it's my face."

Emily looked surprised, as if speech had come from an inanimate object.

"Not yet," she said. "Not yet."

ONTARIO PLANS INSURANCE OF UNEMPLOYED

Premier Hepburn Says He Would Prefer Ottawa Action

TORONTO, March 1.—Premier Hepburn said yesterday the Ontario Department of Labor has drafted legislation providing for a scheme of unemployment insurance in the province but that he would prefer the Dominion government enact its own plan to be implemented by enabling legislation in the various provinces.

Such a course would remove necessity of any amendment to the British North America Act, said Mr. Hepburn. Federal enactment of unemployment insurance legislation would provide uniformity throughout Canada, he added. He declined to say whether the proposed Ontario bill would be submitted to the legislature at its forthcoming session if the Dominion government failed to act.

The Premier said he would oppose inclusion of western crop insurance in any scheme adopted by the federal government. "Man can't beat nature with mathematics and legislation," he said. "There is no use trying."

Mr. Hepburn termed "asinine" federal proposals to bonus western Canadian wheat on an acreage basis. Such a scheme would tend to increase wheat production at a time when world demand was dropping.

Purses Upped It All Helps Just Meanies

SPRING is just around the corner. The reason I know is because the seasons's race programs have just come in from headquarters of the Prairie Thoroughbred Breeders and Racing Association. You folks with delicate egos may consider the crocus or chirping robin the only genuine and aesthetic heralds of spring, but us lugs in sport look forward instead to these dope booklets from Squire James speers and his jolly companions of the turf.

They sort of perk you up at this time of year when you are wading through snow and wondering how come your parents were dumb enough to settle in this country when they might just as well have gone on to California or Hawaii when they were at it.

There will be the usual 68 days of madness over the gidyaps on the prairie circuit this year. Starting June 3 you can pick your favorite pigs at Whittier Park for 14 days and then watch them perform at Polo Park, the other Winnipeg plant, for another two weeks. Then starts 25 days of racing on the exhibition loop—Calgary, Edmonton, Saskatoon and Regina. That will take care of your spare shekels up to August 5. On August 12 the nags come back here for the fall meet, open at Chinook on August 26 and go back to the pasture on September 4.

The programs this spring contain good news, exactly $20,300 worth of it. That is the amount by which the prize money has been upped this season in comparison with last. Here are the boosts for each meet: Whittier and Polo Park $8,300, Calgary Stampede $1,950, Edmonton Exhibition $1,800, Saskatoon Exhibition $1,000, Regina Exhibition $2,100, Edmonton Fall Meet $2,800, Calgary Fall Meet $1,400.

Oil For the Industry

THE reason that this increase in purses is hailed with a cheer is that it means a little better break for the owners—the lads who make the game possible and none of whom have become in any way filthy with wealth as a result of owning gidyaps in recent years. The racing association has cut the daily feature handicap at the Winnipeg tracks by $100 to $700, but it has made $800 the minimum for any race. This is an increase of a little better than $100 a race on the average compared to last season. It is these regular program races that owners really have to depend on. The big features are just a chance at some fruit cake to go with the daily hamburgers. All which looks like a very commendable move.

Out here on the prairies, this business of improving the breed of the horses that run for your money is more than just a wise crack. It is a real industry. True enough it is not to be compared with wheat raising or the raising of oil, but just the same it is not to be sneezed at.

The better money an owner can make on the track, the more he can put back into the breeding industry. Ireland has raked in many millions of English pounds by developing the breeding industry into a fine art. With U.S. tracks crying for better horses and more of them, the future for the breeder is definitely brightening up.

Two Canadians For Santa Anita

SATURDAY afternoon the bugle will call out the cream of the turf for the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap down, Los Angeles way. Canadian riders have always been in the spotlight at this classic and the same will again hold true.

Nick Wall, the pint-sized hurry-upper from Glace Bay, Nova Scotia, will be up on Mrs. Park Corning's Thanksgiving. Nick was the leading money winner of 1938 in the United States. Georgie Woolf of Cardston is slated to do the hustling aboard Main Man, the entry of Col. E. B. Mayer. Both of these Canadians have won the big Anita payoff before. Wall did it on Stagehand last year to beat the favored Seabiscuit. Woolf won the first running of "hundred grand" in 1935 when he brought Azucar, a reformed steeplechaser, to score a rousing upset.

However, both Canadians will have to score a dumfounding upset if they win this trip. The experts just can't figure their horses in the money. The favorite oat-burner this time is Kayak II. Johnny Adams will likely be up.

Just a Couple Meanies

THE California Chamber of Commerce—the boys who see to it that California has nothing but sunshine, intriguing beaches and the cutest of bathies, has just enrolled a couple of new members—Ralph Morgan and Laurel Harney. Both of them were nice, normal sort of guys when they played ball here in other years. Now they write letters to us in which they say that California has a super-colossal climate with nothing but hot sunshine and ripe oranges, and would we like some?

These two are at present working out with the Seattle Rainiers of the Pacific Coast Baseball League. The Rainiers are training at Anaheim. They write a joint note to say that they are having a swell time and expect to report to camp on March 22. There are about 50 players battling for contracts, the most of whom seem to be pitchers and catchers, which you will recall are the positions played by Morgan and Harney respectively. Lea Weber is there and made the boys feel right at home. He was asking about all the gang in Edmonton and at Ponoka and Wetaskiwin.

Ludwig Begs For Partner Friday's Team Match Bout

OTTO LUDWIG is on his bended knee, begging. He seeks not mercy, but would like a partner for Friday night's big team match at the Memorial Hall.

Ludwig started the cry for a team match when he claimed Grayston's nifty right punch felled him and led to his defeat against Patrick O'Dowdy. Ludwig boasted he could trim both O'Dowdy and Grayston if he had a partner.

Such a partner has been a big search for Promoter Mike Gulcher. To date no one has come forth and Louis Lavole's chance to team with Otto went to the boards as the Cumminsan has clamped a suspension on him.

There are three likely prospects left, for Ludwig to team up with. Bob Cummings is one, Jack Jackson another and the third is a very dark horse, Dempsey Carr. Carr is Ludwig's partner on team match will feature Friday's bouts and the finish bout in the ring will be decided by Thursday at the latest.

Two other bouts will round out the card with the first starting at 8.30 p.m.

Junior High School Playoffs Open Thursday

The Junior High School Hockey League playoff series will open Thursday afternoon at Varsity rink between Strathcona and Separate. It will be a two-game, total-goal series. McDougall Commercial, with games remaining with Eastwood, Technical and Separate, decided to withdraw from the playoff race and fault the three contests. The game will start at 4:30 p.m.

The senior league playoff opener between Strathcona and Victoria, scheduled for Thursday afternoon at Varsity rink, has been postponed until next week.

Playoffs in the bantam circuit are expected to open next week. One game remains between Scona and Eastwood. A win for the undefeated Eastwood sextet will put Eastwood and Victoria in the playoffs while a Scona victory will force a three-way tie between Scona, Eastwood and Victoria.

Believe It Or Not — — — By Robt. Ripley

EXPLANATION OF TODAY'S CARTOON

THE FATHER OF CAPTAINS: James Blanchard, Maine shipbuilder, was the father of: 1, William H.; 2, Raymond; 3, Jubilee; 4, Elbridge; 5, Lock; 6, James; 7, Shepard. All seven sons were ship captains and all were lost at sea. Of his four grandsons who were likewise ship captains, one, Fred P. Blanchard, was also lost at sea. Numerous other bearers of the Blanchard name were shipmasters, being more distantly related to the subject of my cartoon. COWS THAT EAT FISH: In August, 1938, Ed. C. Kirby of Houston, Texas, observed and photographed cattle at Bird Island, near Corpus Christie, Texas, eating fish caught along the beach. This followed a long period of high north winds that drove the fish in close to shore. It is thought the cows may have been seeking salt through their unusual diet.

Victoria, Scona Clubs Win Bantam Tilts by 2-0

BANTAM LEAGUE

	W.	L.	D.	Pts.
Eastwood	2	0	0	6
Victoria	2	1	0	6
Strathcona	2	1	0	4
Technical	1	2	0	2
Separate	0	4	0	0

BATTLING for a playoff berth, Victoria Bantams blasted home two quick goals in the last minute of play to defeat Separate 2-0 in a scheduled game of the High School Bantam Hockey League played at Norwood rink yesterday. The win boosted the Victoria sextet into a tie for first place but it was the last game for Victoria, while the undefeated Eastwood club has a game left with Scona.

For two full periods and the greater portion of the third, the Separate squad battled tooth and nail in an effort to down Vic. and chalk up their first win of the season. They continued battling until the last minute of the final period, when Guest rapped in a goal from a scramble in front of the Separate net. Seconds later Laurie clinched the victory with the second Victoria marker.

Both goalies turned in smart displays, with Davies in the Victoria net turning aside the rubber with a finesse that was well deserving of a shutout. Devaney in the Separate goal turned in an equally fine performance being worked much harder than his opponent.

LINEUPS:

Separate—Devaney, McAlpine, Simpson, McCarthy, Bradshaw, Fraser, Flaherty, Sayers, Lee, Gauchier, O'Connor, McDonald.

Victoria—Davis, Lukiniuk, Hope, Nikiforuk, Guest, Westover, Fiete, Laurie, Wilson, Raison.

Scona, Bantams Whip Technical Club 2-0

Strathcona Bantams remained in the race for a playoff berth yesterday as they toppled Technical 2-0 in a scheduled fixture of the High School Bantam Hockey League played at the Scona Centre rink. The win left Scona two points behind the leading Eastwood and Victoria sextets. With a game left with Eastwood, Scona still retains a chance of forging a three-way tie for the league leadership.

Doug Mitchell, clever Technical cuelodist, was the outstanding player on the ice. His brilliant saves kept the Technical squad in the running during the game.

Bill Bennett played the way for the Strathcona triumph, passing to George Edwards for the first tally and a few minutes later laid over a perfect pass to Walter Castleman for the second marker, and a Scona win. Both goals came in the second period.

PROLITES COP PLAYOFF LEAD AGAINST CUBS

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

LLOYDMINSTER, March 1. — Lloydminster Prolites blasted out a two-goal lead to take with them to Saskatoon on Thursday in the final game for the northern Saskatchewan intermediate championship. The Prolites defeated Saskatoon Cubs last night, 4-2 in the series opener before the largest crowd of the season.

Opening cautiously the Cubs tried Brown out from the blue line but changed tactics to ring the first counter. Rose skating into the goal mouth to catch a pass from Hanseliman at 6:53.

CUBS IN FRONT

The lead was short lived. Sunderland and Spencer combining for the equalizer. A penalty to Wilson gave the Prolites a chance to try out the power play but to no effect and Saskatoon came back into the lead again at 17:15 on a pretty threeman play, Chamney to Wilson to Marshall.

The Cubs were held scoreless during the second period while the Prolites tied up the game at 3:16. Waldenberg to B. McIvor to George McIvor. Spencer put the locals in the lead half way through on a pass from Lindsdell. Chamney had the best opportunity to score for the Cubs but Brown in the local net outsmarted him smothering the shot at a short distance. Barstow and Marshall were penalized for attempting to mix too freely.

BEATEN ALL WAY

Saskatoon was beaten at every trick of the game during the last frame and were showing signs of tiring. Lindsdell scored off Shortell's pass for the last score at 4:15. Cubs, in desperate effort to reduce lead, played all men up but the defense of Waldenberg and Spencer could not be broken and the continual back checking was a menace to the Cubs.

LINEUPS

Prolites: Brown, Waldenberg, Spencer, G. McIvor, B. McIvor, Barstow, Sutherland, Shortell, Brimacombe, Miller, Lindsdell.

Saskatoon: Morrison, Ross, Ayres, Carlyle, Hanselman, Edwards, Lawrence Hawkins, Chamney, Marshall, Wilson.

Soccer Council Anxious To Lineup Teams In Leagues

When entries are posted ages are to be listed according to the club colors and nearest playing field.

Midgets are limited up to 15 years by or before January 1, juveniles up to 18 years, by or before January 1 while the junior limit is 21 up to 21 on January 1, while the seniors can be any age.

Applications are also asked from referees for the various leagues, linesmen will be selected from the referees appointed, and the council would like to have the assistance of as many enthusiasts as possible. Rule books will be available on application at a small fee.

Any soccer fan who would like to handle junior teams are also asked to notify the Council as there are lots of juniors who want managers.

Any information can be had from the secretaries, Tom Fawcus at 10058 81 Street, or Bill Wallis, 11815 79 street, who will be glad to help in any direction.

Detroit's Starry Rookie Roundsman Not Verbally Loud

LAKELAND, Fla., March 1.—Frederick Charles Hutchinson may be able to pitch like Dizzy Dean or Van Mungo but from the way he's hitting out with Detroit Tigers he will never be able to hold a light to them in throwing verbal balls and strikes.

For the highest priced rookie of the year, Hutchinson was unusually quiet about his own prowess at he worked out with his new teammates.

The 200-pound, six foot, 1½ inch youngster, not yet 20, must have been considered pretty good by the Tiger bosses who gave $50,000 and several players for him, but he wouldn't even predict he would be a regular.

"It would be silly for me to say what I'm going to do with the Tigers this year when they may farm me out for more experience," he said. "Remember I've been in organized baseball only one year—with Seattle in 1938."

E.A.C On Final Drive Tonight For City Title

COMBINED city and northern Alberta junior hockey championship can be won tonight by Edmonton Athletic Club as they drop over the boards against Maple Leafs at the Arena. In the best-of-three series opener last Sunday E.A.C.'s won against Leafs 8-2 and a second margin tonight will crown them champions and carry them up against Calgary Jimmies for the provincial title. Tonight's all important game starts at 8:30 p.m.

E.A.C.'s main power in the first game was in the smooth working line of George Agar between Jack Chad and Bob Carse. This trio will again take to the ice at full strength and primed for a triumph. Further strength will be on the E.A.C. defense as Harry Pardee gets into action for the first time since his injury three weeks ago. Foley and Darling, however, will be absent, but should the second trio come to life on E.A.C. triumph is almost assured.

While defeated, the Maple Leafs are worthy of much credit. Younger and lighter, they tried hard throughout Sunday's game, and in the one-sided margin Leafs made the game fairly interesting as they staged their last desperate stand.

Reports also indicate that the "playoff fever" is hitting the hockey fan here. A greater week-day crowd is expected tonight and the manner in which these youngsters play, wide open and in wild abandon, is deserving of more support.

Camp Briefs As Ball Stars Train

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Perhaps the happiest of the New York Yankees in camp, the world champions' training camp is Wesley Ferrell, veteran hurler who had some bone chips removed from his elbow last fall. Ferrell used his old-time windup and did his first hurling stint without difficulty. He says he has lost the dull ache that was in his arm for years, adding, "All I want is a chance." In his heyday Ferrell never won fewer than 20 games a season.

CLEARWATER, Fla.—Just to show the Dodgers still are the Dodgers, Brooklyn's first training camp session also was marked by the first collision in the outfield. Bill Posedel collided with big Jim Winford when they were chasing a fungo and was knocked out.

TAMPA, Fla. — Jimmy Wilson, Cincinnati, New coach, seems really serious about getting back into harness. He has put in an order for catchers' paraphenalia with an idea of filling in now and then for Ernie Lombardi and Bill Hershberger.

CLEVELAND.—Cleveland Indians left a couple of problems behind when their first contingent left for the New Orleans training camp. Mel Harder, still unsigned, remained behind because of illness in his family and the club assumed Pitcher Johnny Broaca had changed his mind about accepting a contract and placed his name on the holdout list.

PASADENA, Cal.—Manager Jimmy Dykes received the heartening news that Pitcher Dietrich's arm, ailing last season, was ready to help the White Sox get out of second division.

ORLANDO, Fla.—Spring training started in earnest for Washington Senators as regular players began reporting for duty. Three were still unsigned, but at present Clark Griffith said he expected no trouble. They are: Pitchers Jimmy Deshong and Bill Appleton, and second baseman Buddy Myer.

BRADENTON, Fla.—A few minutes after Boston Bees began their first summer practice session, Pitcher Fred Frankhouse was struck by a sizzling liner off the bat of rookie Johnny Hill and received a severe knee bruise. Manager Casey Stengel ordered the veteran hurler to retire for the day.

Pity The Poor Giant

CHAPTER V

THERE is probably no more scandalous, pitiful, incredible story in all the records of these last mad sports years than the tale of the living giant, a creature out of the legends of antiquity, who was made into a prizefighter. He was taught and trained by a wise, scheming little French boxing manager who had an Oxford University degree, and he was later acquired and developed into the heavyweight champion of the world by a group of American gangsters and mob men then finally, when his usefulness as a meal ticket was outlived, he was discarded in the most shameful chapter in all boxing.

This unfortunate pituitary case, who might have been Angoulaffre, or Balan, or Pierabras, Chlomadis, or Gargantua himself, was a poor simple-minded peasant by the name of Primo Carnera, the first son of a stone-cutter of Sequals, Italy. He stood six feet seven inches in height, and weighed two hundred and sixty-eight pounds.

He became the heavyweight champion, yet never in all his life was he ever anything more than a freak and a fourth-rater at prizefighting. He must have grossed more than two millions of dollars during the years that he was being exhibited, and he hasn't a cent to show for it today.

STORY FASCINATES

There is no room here for more than a brief and hasty glance back over the implications of the tragedy of Primo Carnera. And yet I could not seem to take my leave from sports without it. The scene and the story still fascinate me, the sheer impudence of the men who handled the giant, their conscienceless cruelty, their complete depravity towards another human being, the sure, cool manner in which they hoaxed hundreds of thousands of people.

Poor Primo! A giant in stature and strength, a terrible figure of a man, with the might of ten men, he was a helpless lamb among wolves who used him until there was nothing more left to use, until the last possible penny had been squeezed from his big carcass, and then abandoned him. His last days in the United States were spent alone in a hospital. One was left thinking of Virginia Hamm, and his fingers were toying with the sausages.

A DISTINCTIVE AIR.

His head was large, even for the size of his body, and looking at him you were immediately struck with his dreadful gummy mouth and sharp, irregular, snaggle teeth. His lips were inclined to be loose and flabby. He had a good nose and fine, kind eyes. But his legs looked even more enormous and tree-like than they were, owing to the great blue bulging varicose veins that wandered down them on both sides and stuck out far enough so that you could have knocked them off with a baseball bat. His skin was brown and glistening and he invariably smelled of garlic.

This was the horror that came into the Madison Square Garden ring and sent a sincere shudder through the packed house. That is to say, he was horrible until he commenced to fight, when he became merely pitiful and an object of demanding sympathy. Behind what passed for the wild battle blaze in his eyes and the dreadful grimmy leer, emphasized by the size of the red rubber mouthpiece (tooth-protector) with which they provided him, there was nothing but bewilderment and complete helplessness.

The truth was that, handicapped by rules and regulations, a sport he did not understand and was not temperamentally fitted for, and those silly brown leather bags laced to his fingers, never at any time could he fight a lick. His entire record, with a few exceptions, must be thrown out as one gigantic falsehood, staged and engineered, planned and executed by the men who had him in tow and who were building him up for the public as a man-killer and an invincible fighter.

PRIMO ALSO DUPED

But I think the most dreadful feature of the case is that the poor floundering giant was duped along with the spectators. He was permitted, in fact encouraged, to believe that his silly pawings and pushings, when they connected, and men staggering into unconsciousness and defeat.

It was not until late in his career when in spite of himself he learned something though sheer experience and number of fights, that he ever knocked anyone out on the level. But he never could fight, and never will. In spite of his great size and strength and his well-proportioned body, he remained nothing but a glandular freak who should have remained with the small French travelling circus from which Leon See took him.

GRUNTER IN CIRCUS

This big, good-natured, docile man was exhibiting himself in a small wandering cirque in the south of France as a strong man and Greco-Roman wrestler, engaging all comers and local talent in the nightly show, having found that it paid him more and offered a better life than that of his cheese factory session of mosaic-worker. Here he was discovered by a former French boxing champion who signed him up and apprenticed him to one Monsieur Leon See to be taught the rudiments of the game.

It is highly probable that the time spent as a wrestler set his muscles and prevented him from ever becoming a knockout puncher. But Monsieur Leon See was taking no chance. He taught and trained Carnera strictly as a defensive boxer.

Now, it must be understood that Leon See was one of the most intelligent men and one of the most clever turned a fighter loose from his corner. Hewas not much more scrupulous than the bevy of public enemies who eventually took Carnera away from him simply by musclingh him, but he was much more farseeing and he had certain well-thought-out notions and theories about the ridiculous game of boxing.

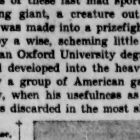

Among them was the excellent and sensible thought that the human head was never intended by nature to be punched, and that secondly, from the manner of its construction out of hundreds of tiny, delicately articulated bones, the closed fist was never meant to be one of man's most effective weapons.

In this last idea, Monsieur See was not alone. The coterie of tough guys and mobsters who eventually relieved him of his interest in Carnera, rarely used the fist, reckoning it, as did See, an inefficient weapon. The boys always favored the pistol or Roscoe, also known as the Diffenaccer, the Equalizer, the Rod, and the Heat.

Dupe of Gangs

Primo Carnera was just a big, good natured giant. Ripe for picking. And a group of mobsters picked him. Below he is shown towering over Jiri Maloney, but Jimmy handed him his first defeat, Oct. 7, 1930.

was a masterpiece of stage management.

He wore black fighting trunks on the side of which was embroidered a wild boar in red silk. He dispensed the usual lighter's bathrobe and instead wore a sleeveless vest of a particularly hideous shade of green, and on his head a cap of the same shade, several sizes too large for him and with an enormous visor that made him look even larger than he was.

Leon See, the Frenchman, then his manager, was a small man. The jacket-carriers and sponge-wielders were chosen for size too—diminutive men; everything was done to increase the impression of Primo's size.

Carnera was the only giant I have ever seen who was well proportioned throughout his body for his height. His legs were massive and he was truly thewed like an oak. His waist was comparatively small and clean, but from it rose a torso like a Spanish hogshead from which sprouted two tremendous arms, the wrist of which stood out like grapefruit. His hands were like Virginia hams, and his fingers were like thick sausages.

Bruins Shellack Habitants by 6-2

BOSTON, March 1.—The forward surge that lifted Montreal Canadiens out of the National Hockey League cellar was checked last night by Boston Bruins as the leaders handed them a 6-2 defeat after the crippled Montrealers had gone four games without a loss.

The setback shattered Canadiens's immediate hopes of pulling into a fifth-place tie with idle Detroit Red Wings and left them a single point ahead of the basement-dwelling Chicago Black Hawks. Bruins moved out into an 11-point lead over New York Rangers.

Sparked by centre Bill Cowley, Bruins rapped one goal past rookie netminder Claude Bourque in the opening period and followed up with a three-goal flurry in the second and a pair in the closing session. Cowley made the plays for two tallies and wound up the Bruin scoring with a goal of his own.

Americans Tie 1-1 With Leafs

NEW YORK, March 1.—New York Americans fought to a 1-1 overtime tie with Toronto Maple Leafs last night to cling to their two-point lead over Leafs for third place in the National Hockey League.

Probable opponents in the league's playoffs, the teams provided a listless game for 7,000 fans. It wasn't until the last half of the third that the two goals came.

Mosdell scored for Leafs from a shutout in the 16th minute after Lorne Carr had opened the scoring for the Yanks. Carr's goal came from a scramble in the Toronto defence zone, with Carr taking a pass from Sweeney Schriner and driving in a 20-footer that skipped over goalie Turk Broda's skate and into the cage.

New Leaders Move In On Keglers' Tournament

NEW leaders took over the head of the parade in the major events of Edmonton's annual 10-pin bowling tourney on Tuesday night as the big meet rolled merrily through its second night at the Recreation Alleys.

The Rialto keglers really bore-down to set a new three-game team mark of 3,133 for the boys to shoot at. Reports are that nobody is exactly optimistic about beating that figure. Simon's Cigars moved into second place in the team event with a right smart count of 3,102.

Dodds and Dodds went into the top slot in the junior doubles when they scattered the maples for a total of 1,232 last night. They were followed by the partnership of Pappas and Poole with 1,221.

Eddie Kramer grabbed off the lead in the senior singles when he piled up a total of 654, while George Gerald wheeled in behind him in second place with 650.

Liberal Club Hears Review Of Y. Training

CONTRIBUTION which the system of Dominion-Provincial Youth Training has made to the economic life of Canada formed the basis of a most interesting address given by Mr. Jack Marshall to members of the Edmonton Women's Liberal Club who foregathered in the clubroom of the Y.W.C.A. building on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. A. H. Gardiner, president of the club, presided.

SIX PHASES

Dividing his speech up into groups each of which covered a definite phase or schedule of the work undertaken during these last two years, Mr. Marshall gave his listeners a deeper view into the widespread benefits of the scheme.

Through Schedule A, by which boys and girls in the rural areas are given instruction in the technique of farm management, and household training for farm girls, 4,000 will have taken advantage of the offer, at the close of the coming year, Mr. Marshall stated. For young folk who could not attend agriculture school or University, the courses were such as to cover many fields of farming enterprise, thereby helping them to cope more easily and satisfactorily with the problems they come up against daily, more able to make their farms show profit, and to make them better citizens of Canada.

Under Schedule B, the scheme of training given in forestry, only 60 have taken advantage of the offer in this province. In other provinces the number has been very much larger, and in still others, mining projects have replaced the emphasis on forestry.

SCHEDULE C

Edmontonians are most familiar, perhaps, with the splendid training given in home science in the training school for girls, arranged under Schedule C. The work in the city has been most successful, in training girls to do better work, and to fit them to demand more respect and remuneration in their positions as domestic servants.

Schedule D, the training of youth in technical jobs, in Calgary has resulted in 1,200 graduates last year, and with 1,200 to graduate this year. Specialized types of farming enterprise, poultry and dairying are taught under Schedule E, and have resulted so far, in many of the boys achieving a growing position of economic security.

Schedule F, the course in physical culture, is one of the most popular ones in the country, and one that is assisting greatly in the rehabilitation of youth.

"Where a club like this can help, the speaker went on, "is in fostering a demand for even greater services of this type, and in using wherever possible the services of those trained."

Mrs. A. H. Gardiner, president of the club, introduced the speaker. Mme. d'Este received a warm vote of thanks to the speaker after his address.

RESOLUTIONS

During the early part of the afternoon several resolutions were passed, instigated by Mrs. F. Conroy. A resolution that the pensionable age for women, and industrial life should be reduced to the age of sixty years found unanimous support from all present.

Another resolution, requesting that widows of ex-servicemen could still receive the pension allotted to her husband, after his death when she he had died as a result of the Great War or not also found favor with the meeting.

CARNIVAL OF NATIONS

Plans for the Carnival of Nations which this year will be held on Monday, May 8, and Tuesday, May 9, were well with during the meeting. Mrs. W. D. Ferris is chairman of the carnival committee and has details of the annual affair in her hands. The carnival will have its setting as in former years in the Memorial Hall.

Mrs. D. Ferris, secretary of the club, and who has been absent from the city since early December visiting in Sault Ste. Marie, was welcomed back to the club. Mrs. J. D. Barrie, of Davidson, Saskatchewan, who is in the city at present, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Barrie, was welcomed as a visitor to the meeting.

ADDRESS OF PRESENTATION

In her address of presentation, Mrs. Grevette remarked that nothing is more stimulating than a sincere appreciation of what others have done, especially when it is to pay tribute to the five famous Alberta women. Outlining briefly their careers, Mrs. Grevette stated that among her many achievements the late Mrs. Murphy was the first president of the Federated Women's Institutes, president of the Canadian Women's Press Club from 1921 to 1920, honorary president of that organization from 1920 to 1923, police magistrate and judge of the Juvenile court, vice-president of the National Council of Women, director of the Canadian Council of Child and Family Welfare, decorated by King George V "A Lady of Grace of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem," received a cross for Imperial service and was the author of many books.

Mrs. Irene Parlby was for four years president of the Provincial U.F.W.A., entered parliament under U.F.A. minister without portfolio, second woman in British Empire to be given cabinet position and has always worked for the betterment of health throughout the province.

AUTHOR OF NOTE

Well-known as an author, a member of the Board of the CBC, and for her work in the temperance movement in the west, Mrs. McClung is dearly beloved by all.

Speaking of the accomplishments of the late Mrs. McKinney, Mrs. Grevette stated that she was for almost a quarter of a century provincial president of the W.C.T.U., and

British View To Be Topic Of Address

Further evidence that women have taken affairs of world-wide moment to their province is held for Edmonton women this week, and for members of the Women's Canadian Club especially, who will have the pleasure of hearing Miss Alice C. Johnston, lecturer and teacher on the staff of Ashridge College, Berkhamstead, England, at a tea-time meeting of the club on Friday afternoon of this week in the Macdonald hotel.

HER SUBJECT

Her subject—no mean one, nor to easy one to prepare, "The British Point of View on Foreign Affairs"—is one to interest all thinking persons today. Well qualified for her task, for she holds an Oxford honors degree in modern history, she has been lecturer at the Bonar Law College, Ashridge, for the past five years.

It is understood that Miss Johnston has had frequent meetings with British statesmen and members of parliament of both houses, and is exceptionally well qualified to speak on any subject of contemporary British politics. Major-General Sir Reginald Hoskins, K.C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., says: "She never fails to arrange her material in a logical and ordered sequence, deducing her arguments clearly and stating them concisely. Her manner is quiet and distinguished. She has good balance and much breadth of mind. I have always found it safe to rely on her judgment."

Miss Johnston has been speaking to Canadian Clubs across Canada and we have received most favorable reports of her ability as a speaker. While in Ottawa she was a guest at Rideau Hall.

Mrs. Gordon E. Swallow, president of the club, will preside and introduce the speaker.

Fine Recital Is Given By City Artist

IAN DOCHERTY, baritone, appeared in his second annual recital at the Masonic temple on Tuesday evening and the impression of his sincerity as an artist and high artistic ideals created at his debut concert a year ago, obtained any confirmation that was required.

Mr. Docherty impresses as being one of the younger artists, who is imbued with the desire to progress in his art and to achieve this end, is willing to put forth the effort to attain his objective. He is willing to subscribe to the statements by Longfellow in his Ladder of St. Augustine, in that

"The heights by great men reached and kept,
Were not attained by sudden flight;
But they, while their companions slept—
Were toiling upward in the night."

An so it must be, if one is to succeed as an artist. Mr. Docherty —more credit to him—is one who is not afraid of that toil, a most laudable quality in these days of ease and often apparent apathy to the highest artistic ideals.

In his recital on this occasion he displayed greater vocal volume than in his recital last year and made use of that volume on more frequent occasions, in some instance developing an impressive climaxes and building the numbers up to a logical conclusion.

WELL VARIED PROGRAM

The program was well varied and most assuredly gave him ample opportunity to display the different phases of emotion, from the impassioned Adelaide of Beethoven, through the rapidly changing emotions of the Prologue to Pagliacci, to the stirring bombast Toreador's Song from Carmen and the martial, invigorating Two Grenadiers of Schumann.

Mr. Docherty, however, did not display an even quality of artistry throughout. At his best he rose to a heights not hitherto attained, but there were occasions when the standard was not so high and his performance lost some of the control one expected. There were a few spots, too, notably in the Toreador's Song where the accidental "accompanist was not all that it might be, but doubtless this was due to nervousness.

New Permanent Should Be Carefully Brushed

By ALICIA HART

Once you have a good permanent wave, give it the care it deserves.

You know, of course, that no permanent is self-setting. If your hair is to be neat and flattering and molded to the lines of your head, you or a professional operator must set the waves in place after each shampoo. But you ought to know also that brushing, meticulous shampooing and a bit of extra care between trips to the beauty shop all help to make the wave last longer and give better service while it lasts.

Don't let anyone tell you that a new permanent should not be brushed. It should be. And the more you brush it, the softer and more manageable it will become.

However, don't brush and brush and brush your hair upward away from the scalp and then go to bed without combing it back into proper place and pinching the waves a bit. During the first two or three weeks while the permanent is so very new, brush, then comb, then put on a hair net and wear it all night. There are hair nets and hair nets these days—and you can find one which really is pretty becoming.

WEAR "NIGHT CAPS"

One of Hollywood's most important picture actresses likes a self-toning net in pink net instead of a regular hair net.

After she has brushed her hair and combed it as carefully as she can she winds the long strip of net around her head and ties the ends in a bow at the front. A New York actress wears a blue snood at night. It keeps the ends in ringlets, preserves the waves at sides of the head and, in addition, is attractive.

Raising A Family

The days are over when mother used to twist her hair into a hard knot on top of her head in the morning and put on a gathered cap over the kid curlers at her temples. Thank heaven for that. Women today look almost as well at their work as any place else.

Children should be grateful, too. They don't know what they have escaped. For children are very susceptible to what their mothers wear.

They know little about styles, of course, but they O R Sarton recognize the ugly and incongruous get-up for what it is. Just how much mother's appearance has to do with behavior, I suppose, is not in the statistics. But respect depends so much, as far as appearance goes, on every other line of human relationships, that we can't overlook it in the home entirely. A boy or girl is a jury of one.

Next to neatness comes color. Children thrive under the influence of brilliance. Deep drab color and life becomes monotonous. A baby needs restful colors, if any, but all white in the nursery has been discarded. Buff or soft tones are in vogue. Then slowly as the months go, more and more color is added to stimulate the baby's interest.

Our old-fashioned school teachers wore black. This was in an age when it was considered wrong for a teacher to smile or be human.

The longer his face and the tougher the rod, the better the teacher. Then one fine day somebody discovered that color was a good substitute for lickings. It was paragraphed in text books on teaching. Children behaved better and took more interest in school when the teacher left her alpaca apron at home and put on a red, or blue or green dress.

It is a color age, so I need not go on about house clothes. They are a riot of every shade in the prism. But in case you are addicted to dull monotones, just for fun it might be a change to watch the youngsters one fine day when you suddenly bloom in a red dress. Hear them crow as though the sun had come up.

CHILDREN LOVE BEAUTY

I really do not think that anyone in the world has a right to suggest what should be worn in the face of mourning. But a black dress and a grievous countenance are very contagious. Today many courageous mothers struggle to hide their sadness for the sake of their families. Another departure from the sad 90's.

Children notice the clothes of their parents even when they are careless about their own. Father's spotted coat or wrinkled socks leave an impression. Mother's crooked heels, or a slip showing perpetually below her hem, are not only unfortunate examples but do something to the child's own self respect.

Your Health — By Dr. Frank McCoy

Many of the letters received from readers deal with various problems relating to the use of milk in the diet, and as some of those questions may be of interest to others, I shall repeat them here.

"Does it make any difference if milk is taken in large sips?"

When milk is hastily swallowed, it will form large curds in the stomach, and the digestive juices will find it hard to penetrate these curds. Milk should be sipped slowly from a glass, or taken through a straw or glass tube, and when it reaches the mouth it should be held there and "chewed" or mixed with the saliva almost before it enters the solid food, for the best digestive results.

"Is milk a good source of calcium?"

Milk is highly recommended as a calcium food.

"Does milk supply enough iron?"

Milk is somewhat deficient in iron. It is, however, a good plan to supply vegetables (both cooked and raw) and fruits.

"What is it in milk which gives it its food value?"

In a general way, we may say that the food value of milk lies in its fats, milk sugar and protein. Roughly speaking, the fat runs about four per cent, the milk sugar about four per cent, and the protein about four per cent. A milk meal is therefore very much like a meal made up of fat, carbohydrate and meat. In addition, milk supplies vitamins and minerals.

"Which is better, especially for children, raw or pasteurized milk?"

When it is possible to secure raw milk from healthy cows, the raw milk should be used. Pasteurization affects the mineral and vitamin content to some extent, as the heating seems to destroy some of the substances needed for the best nutrition. If there is any question as to whether the milk comes from healthy cows, it is better to pasteurize it. However, if necessity forces the use of pasteurized milk, then the diet should be fortified with raw foods such as salads and fruits, to make good the minerals and vitamins partially removed from the milk by heating.

"Will you give us some rules to follow about using milk in the diet?"

Milk has very nourishing qualities and is worthy of being considered a real food. When using it, use it as a protein, following the rules governing the combination of protein foods. You will find milk is best used with the raw acids (fruits or their juices) or with the non-starchy vegetables. Used in either way, it provides a perfect meal. Or, milk may be used with starches, such as breakfast foods, which have been thoroughly toasted.

Curdling is the first step in the digestion of milk, and the smaller the curds, the more readily the milk is digested. When an acid fruit, or juice, is taken with the milk, the milk curds will be broken up into finer particles than would be the case if the milk were taken alone. Try one of these milk and fruit lunches and see for yourself how well the milk digests when this simple combination is used.

An excellent lunch, for example, is the combination of ripe red apples and milk. Or, try oranges and milk.

To summarize the rules for using milk: Milk may be used with benefit alone as a complete meal by itself, or, it may be used with fruit as a complete meal, or it may be used with non-starchy vegetables as a complete meal, or, it may be combined with toasted whole wheat biscuit. Follow these rules and you will get all of the good out of this food which is really so nourishing.

"How much milk should a person have to use to keep up weight and strength, if he is taking nothing else but milk and fruit juices?"

The average person will maintain both weight and strength on about three quarts a day. Just advice should be added to this exclusive milk diet to provide vitamin C.

Dr. Frank McCoy's great book, "The Fast Way to Health," gives you the mechanism of health in plain, easily understandable language.

A limited supply is on hand at The Bulletin. A copy will be mailed postpaid on receipt of $1.00. Just address The Bulletin.

Dorothy Dix Says:

Your marriage has not turned out to be the love idyl that you expected it to be. You are disappointed and disillusioned and you have joined the lodge of Lovelorn-what-made-me-do-it husbands. Well, son, there never was a marriage yet where the show came up to the advance notices. Nor has there ever yet been a wife who was just what her husband wanted her to be. The only perfect wife is the one you did not marry.

The woman you married is getting along toward middle age. She is losing her looks. She is getting a little stout. Her complexion is going and her hair getting gray. Sometimes after she has done a hard day's work and been up all night with a sick child and has on a bungalow apron she is positively homely. You think you must have been blind, or drunk, or doped, or something when you picked her out from all the other women in the world to sit across the breakfast table from you the balance of your life.

The only woman who never loses her beauty and stays glamorous to the end is the woman you didn't marry. And the reason was old. She never loses her figure and turns fat or scrawny on her husband. She never loses her schoolgirl complexion or the crimp in her finger waves. She can do the family wash without losing the red polish on her nails. Cook a seven-course dinner without smelling of the kitchen. And she is always dressed in fluttering pink chiffon and looks like something out of a fashion magazine.

The woman you married is a good cook and manager. What she can get out of a dollar entitles her to rank among the major magicians. Every night you sit down to a dinner that is a triumph of the culinary art. But as a companion she is a total loss. In the first month after marriage she ran through her whole conversational repertoire and she hasn't had a new idea or heard a fresh story since. Or perhaps you married a college graduate who is brilliant and scintillating and who keeps you entertained and amused, but who throws half you earn in the garbage can. She can turn an epigram, but can't make a biscuit that isn't a menace to life.

Vitamin Hunters Find Prizes In Dried Fruit

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

Dried fruits lead a useful life, from breakfast on through dinner. They are economical, packed with flavor and excellent for food value in minerals, especially iron, they outshine the corresponding fresh fruits, weight for weight.

Dried apricots are very rich in iron. Dates, figs, prunes and raisins also supply this essential mineral. Figs are a good source of calcium.

Dried fruits are also rich in vitamins. Prunes are an excellent source of vitamin A, and also supply riboflavin (vitamin G). Dates furnish both vitamin A and thiamin (vitamin B). Dried apricots and yellow peaches retain part of their original rich store of vitamin A, and figs supply thiamin and riboflavin.

However, combine lemon or other citrous juice with dried fruits because they lack the ascorbic acid (vitamin C) that makes fresh fruits so valuable in the diet.

VARY COOKING METHOD

Do not attempt to cook all dried fruits the same way. Generally the most satisfactory procedure in cooking prunes is to wash them carefully in hot water first, then drop them into boiling water and allow to stand an hour for them to plump up.

Next, simmer the prunes in the same water for half an hour, adding a little sugar, if desired, during the last few minutes of cooking.

Always use the soaking water for cooking, to save every bit of the fruit flavor. Most dried apricots require no soaking. Simply start the cooking in boiling water and simmer 30 minutes.

For dried figs, start the cooking in cold water and simmer 20 to 30 minutes to tenderness. Dried peaches are best if soaked in cold water for half an hour and cooked 15 to 20 minutes.

For variety, add a slice of lemon or orange to prunes, or cook and serve apricots and prunes together. Spiced prunes are excellent with meat.

For spiced prunes, simmer part of the time with a bag of whole spices — allspice, cinnamon and cloves — and add a little vinegar during the last few minutes of cooking.

STEAMED FIG PUDDING

One-fourth pound suet, ¼ pound figs, 4-5 cup sugar, ¼ cup flour, 3 cups bread crumbs, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon nutmeg, 1 teaspoon soda, milk.

Wash figs, place in cold water and simmer 20 to 30 minutes. Drain and chop. Chop suet. Combine chopped figs and suet with bread crumbs. Add sugar, sifted flour, nutmeg, and well beaten egg.

Use enough milk (with soda dissolved in it) to make batter the consistency of cake batter. Turn into buttered mold and steam for 3 hours.

What To Do

Will you tell me how to have my maid answer the phone correctly and also how my children should answer calls? Is it proper for the maid or the children to reply to the ring by saying: "Mrs. Brown's residence"? Thank you.

MRS. A. M. B.

Answer—No, "Mrs. Brown's residence" sounds entirely too businesslike. Rather have the maid say pleasantly, "Good morning" or "Good evening," and then ask, "Would you like to speak to Mrs. Brown?" In the case of the children, for example, after the preliminary greeting, the son might say: "This is Bob Brown: Would you like to speak to my mother?" And by all means teach the maid and the children to use a pleasant, clear tone in speaking, never a gruff "Hello." I am assuming that Mrs. Brown is a widow, and that most of the adult calls are for her.

Mr. Culbertson will discuss this hand in tomorrow's column.

Write your bridge troubles and problems to Ely Culbertson, care of The Bulletin, inclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

According To Culbertson

One of the most difficult things to demonstrate in bridge is the promotion of minor honors and smaller cards to winning rank. Obviously, I do not mean that any one has trouble understanding that after the four top honors are played the ten spot becomes the ranking card. What I do mean is best illustrated in a hand such as the following:

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	2 diams.	Pass
2 spades	Pass	2 no tr'p	Pass
3 spades	Pass	4 spades	Pass
5 spades	Pass

North had a difficult choice of bids over South's two spade rebid. North's heart suit was so weak that he dared not mention it at the four level, and to confine himself to a mere rebid of diamonds would be futile, he felt. South would visualize only a better diamond suit but would not be able to count North for any general strength. Thus, the two no trump bid actually chosen was, perhaps, as good as any that could have been selected, despite North's lack of club protection. When South assisted with spades North, not wanting to hang one short of game, went the whole hog and bid four spades.

West collected two club tricks at the start and continued with a third round, hoping that declarer would have to use one of dummy's trumps. Since declarer had the high club, however, he merely discarded a diamond from dummy and won with the club queen. As may be seen, declarer's problem at this point rested squarely on how many trump tricks he would have to concede. If he lost more than one, the contract was up the flue. Since he was missing the K Q 10 8 5, prospects looked far from bright. There was, however, one possible lay of cards that would let him hold his trump loss to one trick, and having nothing to lose and everything to gain, he based his plan on the optimistic view that the cards were distributed as they had to be for his contract to be successful.

After winning with the club king his first lead was a small spade from the ace toward dummy's jack. West put up the queen and shifted to a heart. Dummy's ace won, and the jack of spades now was led through East. It will be noted that East's action at this point (whether or not he covered) was immaterial, because the jack was about to smother West's ten spot. If East covered, the fall of West's ten would promote declarer's nine to ranking value. If East failed to cover, the jack would actually hold the trick. Declarer held his trump losers to one trick and, by so doing, fulfilled the contract.

It will be noted that declarer correctly analyzed and capitalized the one position of trumps that could give him this highly satisfactory result. He saw that it would do him no good to lay down the spade ace in the hope of finding the king-queen blank, because if that condition obtained the ten spot would be a third round defensive trick.

EMBROIDERED BEDSPREAD

Dear Readers: You may have been feeling for a long time now that something just has to be done about that bedroom that is beginning to look shabby. If so, don't wait until the rays of Springtime find their way in and make it look worse than ever. Get busy now with your needle and embroider this dainty spread. It will do wonders for your room, and you will get ever so much pleasure out of seeing the pretty flower sprays take shape under your fingers. Although the simplest stitches are used throughout, the result is surprisingly effective. Try it in factory cotton with brilliant embroidery, or, if you prefer a more elaborate spread, make it of pastel silk with the flowers in delicate shades.

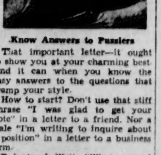

Pattern includes transfer sheet of the design, together with color and stitch charts, and full instructions for making up the spread.

Is Writing Letters a Trial to You?

Know Answers to Puzzlers

That important letter—it ought to show you at your charming best. And it can when you know the easy answers to the questions that cramp your style.

How to start? Don't use that stiff phrase "I was glad to get your note" in a letter to a friend. Nor a stale "I'm writing to inquire about a position" in a letter to a business firm.

Be natural. Write "What a grand surprise to hear from you." To an employer, "Can you use an expert stenographer?"

What to write about? Imagine you are speaking face to face. You would say to a friend, "The snow has turned our front yard into an arctic waste." You'd tell a prospective employer, "I can take dictation accurately."

When you've come to the end of your letter, just stop. Don't drag on with, "Well, it's time to close." "Hoping to hear from you."

"Sincerely yours" ends most letters correctly—but "as ever" is a warm touch for a friend.

Other puzzlers? Kind of paper? How to answer formal invitations? Write correctly, charmingly with the help of our 32-page booklet, Vocabulary tips. Sample letters for many social occasions, business letters that click.

Send 15c in coins for your copy of Good Letter Writing Made Easy to The Edmonton Bulletin, Home Service, Edmonton, Alberta. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

European crop reports recently have been somewhat more optimistic and conditions now, with the exception of some areas where frost damaged, are believed to be about average, with prospects in the exporting countries of the Danube very favorable. As has been expected, following the favorable rains of the past month there is now a tendency to raise estimates of the probable wheat crop of India. Our correspondent at Kairana yesterday cabled that the out-turn was likely to reach 356,000,000 bushels; this is well below the record crop of last year of 402,000,000, but is substantially above estimates circulated early in January of around 300 to 320,000,000; average production during the past five years was about 360,000,000, which included the late large crops in 1937 and 1938.

U.K. Markets For Cheese Is Within Grasp

OTTAWA, March 1.—Markets of the United Kingdom offer Canadian cheese producers an opportunity that can be more easily grasped than that before any other agricultural organization, Hon. J. G. Gardiner, minister of agriculture, asserted last night before a dinner of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association.

Increased use of whole milk and new controls on consumption are taking milk out of cheese production in Britain, he said, offering Canadian producers a great opportunity.

People of western Canada, not usually cheese eaters, had consumed large quantities of eastern cheese in the drought areas in the last two years, developing a liking which might well be encouraged by good advertising, Mr. Gardiner said, urging greater efforts to expand the Canadian market.

Pipeline Rate Of 7.9 Cents Proposed

CALGARY, March 1—A pipeline rate of 7.9293 cents a barrel for transporting oil instead of 15 cents a barrel, was suggested today by J. J. Frawley, K.C., counsel for the McGillivray Royal Commission probing Alberta's oil industry.

Mr. Frawley, of Edmonton, in presenting argument on the pipeline phase claimed 7.9293 cents a barrel would allow for amortization of Royalite Oil company's pipeline investment during a period of 19 years and allow a 10 per cent. return on investment annually. His calculation was on the basis that the line will carry at least 6,060,000 barrels annually, said Mr. Frawley.

Self-Entombed Miners Decide To Return To Surface

HAZLETON, Pa., March 1.—Miners in the nearby Oneida coal mine who have been self-entombed for a week in protest against non-payment of back wages decided last night to return to the surface.

It could not be immediately learned on what terms the 59 miners decided to abandon what they termed a "gesture of protest."

The men's decision came after company officials took $14,000 in cash to the mine last night, wages due the men on Feb. 20. Altogether, the miners claim nearly $66,000 has been due them in wages for more than a year.

CITY TEACHERS WILL RECEIVE REGULAR RAISE

Increment Will Not Apply To Vice-Principals, Board Rules

One full scheduled increment will be granted those teachers who are presently entitled to increments without regard to their present position on their respective schedules, it was decided by the Edmonton Public School Board Tuesday night on the recommendation of the conference committee.

This increment does not apply to former vice-principals and grade eight relieving teachers.

The regulations regarding the operation of the present deduction for unemployment relief will be amended to provide that such deductions shall not reduce any salaries below the sum of $1,300 net per annum, effective as from January 1, 1939.

Male vice-principals in elementary schools with an intermediate unit attached, will be granted an additional salary of $100 per year, while holding that position, this additional allowance to be made retroactive from January 1, 1939, in the following schools: Eastwood, H. A. Gray, Highlands, Parkdale, Westmount.

Present percentage scales of deductions from the caretaking, maintenance, administration and medical staffs will be reduced by 1.5 per cent in all cases as from January 1, 1939.

SPANISH WAR VETS RETURN TO EDMONTON

Five more Edmontonians who fought with the Loyalist forces in the Spanish war have returned to the city over the past week-end and three more will arrive before the end of the week, it was reported here Wednesday.

Those who have returned are N St. Louis, a French-Canadian veteran of the last Great War, Arthur Moffitt, 35, who was with the artillery on the Madrid front; Harry Fenton, 36, who is still receiving treatment for his wounds, Emil Hyduk, whose parents live at Innisfree, and N. Mazurkevich.

Ralph Clevens, whose parents live in Bonnie Doon, who is expected to arrive here Wednesday, retreated from Barcelona with the refugees. P. Dolimuik will arrive later in the week. Next week Lieut. William Kardish, who lost a leg, will arrive with Miss Beckie Buhay, national organizer for the Friends of the Mackenzie-Papineau Battalion.

Siamese Marrow Now Developed By Edmontonian

Last spring, 16-year-old Harry Bruner, 20 Connors Road, tried a little experiment in gardening. Interested in artificial cross-pollination, he brushed the double blossom of a vegetable marrow plant with a single blossom of another marrow.

Tuesday, Harry's father, C. Bruner, walked into The Bulletin editorial department with the fruit of his son's experiment—a "Siamese" vegetable marrow. The six-pound freak is double the size of an ordinary marrow and, cut crosswise, shows two separate and distinct pulps both encased by the same outside covering.

Old-Timer

WILLIAM J. O'DONNELL
79, of Winterburn, for 60 years a resident of that district, who died Tuesday at his home. He was a life member of the Northern Alberta Pioneers and Old-Timers' Association. Services will be held at St. Albert, Thursday.

Riel Rebellion Vet Passes At Winterburn Home

Veteran of the Riel Rebellion, and resident of the Edmonton district for over 60 years, twenty of which were spent as Indian agent on the Riviere Qui Barre reserve, William James O'Donnell died Tuesday at his home in Winterburn. He was 79 years of age.

Surviving are: one son, W. J. O'Donnell of Winterburn; two daughters, Mrs. J. V. Maloney, St. Albert; and Mrs. Jack Atwell, Ottawa; as well as 26 grandchildren. Funeral arrangements will be announced later by Connelly-McKinley.

Deceased was an active member of the Northern Alberta Pioneers and Old Timers' Association.

MARCH ARRIVES LIKE A LAMB: RECORD IS SET

Reversing the generally accepted order, March breezed into the Edmonton district as gentle as a lamb, the mercury in local thermometers standing at 18 above shortly after midnight and climbing to 24 above at 9 a.m. Wednesday. If the rule holds, the month is slated to go out like a raging lion.

Fair and comparatively mild weather is forecast.

February, just ended, set a 21-year record for precipitation with a total of 1.90 inches being deposited in the city. Previous record was 1.70 in February, 1925.

Maximum temperature recorded during the past month was 46 above while the low minimum was 44 below.

Mean monthly temperature was 1.3 as compared with a high of 31.7 in February, 1931, and a low of -16.5 for the same month in 1936.

Total of 79.1 hours of bright sunshine flooded the city during the past month.

Death Finishes Colorful Career Of A. MaCauley

Colorful career of Angus MaCauley, 77, who served the Dominion department of agriculture in Argentine, South America, Hong Kong, and who was a pioneer homesteader in Alberta, was brought to a close by death Saturday. Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Wednesday from the Conjuring Creek Community hall, when Rev. Ross officiated. Interment was made in the Conjuring Creek cemetery.

Born in Balallan, Stornaway, Scotland, he left his native land for South America at the age of 25. He was in China during the Boxer Rebellion and the Great Plague, and in 1900 came to Canada, homesteading at Conjuring Creek in 1902.

He took an active part in school board work, and was secretary-treasurer for several years. He was also a worker in U.F.A. and U.G.G. circles. Howard and McBride were in charge of arrangements.

HOUSE KILLS HUGILL MOVE OUST ATTORNEY

Calgary Member's Resolution Is Beaten By 42 To 14

Motion that the Alberta attorney general be a lawyer of 10 years' standing, moved by J. W. Hugill, K.C., Independent, Calgary, was defeated by a vote of 42 to 14 in the legislature on Tuesday. The mover of the motion was the first attorney general of the Social Credit government and his resignation was asked for by Premier William Aberhart, effective from Sept. 15, 1937.

Premier Aberhart has been carrying on as attorney general since that time.

As moved by Mr. Hugill, the resolution urged that the legislature require the government to introduce a bill at the present session, including amendments to the Attorney General's act to the effect that the appointee to the post of attorney general be a member of the Alberta Law Society of not less than 10 years standing.

APPROVED AS EXPEDIENT

As a temporary expedient, it was permissible that a person other than a lawyer hold the post, said Mr. Hugill, but any permanent appointment should be of an experienced counsel. Any man holding the post must be qualified to give legal opinions on legislation and answer any question regarding law.

A doctor was head of the health department and the premier, an educationist, headed the department of education. Both were proper and it was essential that a qualified counsel head the attorney-general's department, said Mr. Hugill. The existing situation, he added, might some time prove embarrassing to the government.

Reform there must be but provocative change was unnecessary, Mr. Hugill added. Institutions were not wrong and problems could be met within existing institutions. He was ordered to withdraw the remark by Mr. Speaker Dawson.

Seconding the motion, W. N. Chant, Independent, Camrose, declared a qualified lawyer had a greater knowledge of the position's requirements and expressed the opinion such an appointment should be made.

CUSTOM NO ARGUMENT

Custom was no argument in support of the resolution, said R. E. Ansley, S.C., Leduc, in contending the department was being efficiently directed and that it was not essential the attorney-general be a lawyer. Efficiency counted and efficiency existed, he said.

Gerald O'Connor, Liberal, Edmonton, supported the principle of the bill but said he did not think a stipulation of 10 years' experience necessary. He urged the premier to appoint a lawyer from within the government ranks but said he would not introduce an amendment as he believed the motion would be defeated.

Had the resolution been endorsed, apparently it would have prevented the premier from continuing his post as attorney general.

HOW THEY VOTED

Supporting the resolution were five Liberals, two Conservatives, three Independents, one Unity and three Independent Social Credit members, making a total of 14.

Opposed were 41 Social Credit members and S. A. G. Barnes, Independent Social Credit, Edmonton.

Premier To Remain As Attorney-General

Premier William Aberhart will continue to hold office as Attorney-General of this province for another year at least, it is disclosed in estimates given the legislature by Hon. Solon E. Low, provincial treasurer. Premier Aberhart succeeded J. W. Hugill, K.C., Independent, Calgary, as attorney-general in 1937.

The Premier is president of the executive council, minister of education and attorney general. He does not receive salaries for each of these portfolios.

The estimates now before the house show that as president of the executive council and minister of education, the Premier draws $8,500, or $7,320 after deducting voluntary contributions. In addition, he draws regular sessional indemnity, as do other members, of $2,000.

Last year there was a vote included for the attorney-general's salary, but as the premier held office, this vote was not expended.

In this year's estimates the item does not appear, indicating that the Premier proposes to continue to hold this portfolio.

U.F.A. Meeting Hears Reports Of Development

Organization is growing in many parts of the province, it was reported at a meeting of officers and delegates from U.F.A. locals in the immediate Edmonton district, held in the Corona hotel, Tuesday.

George Church, member of the central executive at Calgary, was present and took the chair. Fifteen locals were represented at the meeting. Co-operative work is being developed, Mr. Church reported.

Fast TCA Service Annihilates Time: 15 Hours Montreal

It used to take the old fur-traders weeks, and sometimes months to come from Montreal to Edmonton, but when Trans-Canada Airlines' new fast mail and express schedules go into effect Wednesday, mail placed on the plane which leaves Montreal at 9 p.m. one evening will arrive in Edmonton just 15 hours and 10 minutes later.

Twice daily, at dawn and again at dusk, TCA's planes will leave the Edmonton airport on scheduled flights to Lethbridge, via Calgary, to connect with the mainline cross-Canada planes.

Meanwhile the Edmonton plane leaves the southern city at 10.40 p.m., arriving here at 1.05 a.m. after a fifteen minute stop at Calgary.

80,000 LETTERS

More than 4,700 special letters stamped with the special first flight cachets will leave here in addition to the regular mail on the first flight Wednesday night. Major Walter Hale, district superintendent of postal services, will go along on this trip to supervise the handling of the mail at the divisional points. It is expected that a total of 80,000 letters for stamp collectors, will be carried on the first flight.

SECOND FLIGHT

Second flight on the new schedule will be made from Edmonton at 7 a.m. Thursday, arriving at Lethbridge at 9.10 a.m. connecting with the Vancouver-bound plane, picking up mail which was mailed in eastern Canada Wednesday evening, connecting, in fact, with the plane which left Montreal at 9 p.m. Thursday. The return flight gets into the city at 12.10 noon. Inspector Tom Reilly will be on this flight.

It will take the planes just one hour and ten minutes to reach Calgary—and an hour later they will be in Lethbridge. First flight on the new schedule will leave Edmonton at 8 p.m. Wednesday. A. N. Westergaarde, in charge of the station here, reports that Pilots Art Rankin and Gordon Haslett will be at the controls of the ship.

At Lethbridge the plane from here will connect with the plane which left Vancouver at 6:45 p.m. with mail from Victoria, Vancouver and the Western States. The mainline plane will continue eastward, arriving at Winnipeg at 3:40 a.m., at Toronto and Ottawa before noon the next morning, and at Montreal 50 minutes after noon. Here connections will be made for New York and the Eastern States, and when the Imperial Airways planes go into operation, for England.

MONTREAL, March 1—To mark the inaugural flight of the overnight trans-continental service of the Trans-Canada Air Lines Wednesday night, S. J. Hungerford, chairman and president of the Canadian National Railways and president of the TCA, has written letters of greeting to the lieutenant-governors and the premiers of Ontario and the western provinces. Leaving Montreal at 9 p.m., they will be delivered as far west as Victoria, Thursday.

The Inquiring Reporter

"What do you think is the most needed civic project in Edmonton?" asked The Bulletin's Inquiring Reporter.

Below are replies.

BERT HOLLINGSHEAD, accountant: I would say a downtown arena. It would be good for both sport and business; make it easier to get to games and spruce up the downtown district, which can do with more good buildings.

CHARLES PRYOR, messenger: A bit of civic centre beautification would be as welcome as anything. For instance, there are many eyesores in the city which could be turned into beauty-spots by cleaning them up and planting flowers and shrubs. This work would not be expensive and the improvement would be 100 per cent.

PAUL FUOG, margin clerk: I would say, offhand, that a large scale, city-managed housing program is the greatest need. Houses built by private enterprise would be a better plan but they should be built and the sooner the city can see its way to take some action, the better.

Spiders Affect Population Of Grasshoppers

Professor E. H. Strickland, head of the department of entomology of the University of Alberta, stated Tuesday that the number of grasshoppers in this district depend directly on the reproductive rate of the black widow deadly spider.

According to the expert, the number of spiders which have been found as far north as the Red Deer River, varies in direct proportion with an increase in the grasshopper population. The theory which supports this is that the grasshoppers are eaten by beetles which in turn are eaten by the black widow spiders. Consequently if there is a decrease in the number of grasshoppers, there will be fewer beetles, and therefore fewer spiders.

W. MILLER IS ELECTED HEAD LABOR PARTY

To Serve For Fourth Successive Year—Other Officers Chosen

For the fourth successive year, W. H. Miller was elected president of the Canadian Labor party at its annual meeting held at the Labor Hall on Tuesday evening.

Other officers elected were: O. Arntzen, vice-president; Fred Giles, secretary, and W. H. O'Neill, treasurer. The legislative committee will be headed by Fred Fraser, with E. Adams chairman of the publicity committee; Carl Seirers, chairman of the credentials and membership committee, and James East, chairman of the membership-at-large committee. A special committee under the chairmanship of James East was appointed to present a brief on city taxation to the city taxation bureau. Ex-Ald. J. W. Findlay will also act on this committee.

Considerable discussion took place on the brief to be presented to the provincial government dealing with unemployment. This brief, prepared by organized unemployed in Edmonton, outlines work for wages plans and is captioned "Put Alberta Back to Work."

BOARD WILL ADMINISTER NEW PENSION

Teachers' Retirement Plan Becomes Operative Next September 1

With 30 teachers estimated to be eligible for receipt of pensions, the bill providing for this service tabled in the legislature on Tuesday indicates the plan will become operative on Sept. 1 next.

The bill provides for [illegible] of [illegible] to the fund.

Every teacher in elementary, intermediate, high, technical, vocational and separate schools are eligible to come under the bill.

Benefits from the plan will not be attachable by garnishment or other legal process.

HOW APPOINTED

Two members of the board of administration will be appointed by the lieutenant-governor-in-council, while the other two will be teachers appointed by the lieutenant-governor-in-council after nomination by the executive of the Alberta Teachers Association. Board members will serve without remuneration but will be entitled to expenses.

All school boards under the bill will be obligated to deductions of three per cent from teachers' salaries and to make returns to the government every six months. The government will deduct from the school grants the amounts collected by the school board from the teachers and the provincial treasurer will pay the amounts returned to the fund.

MATCH WITHDRAWALS

The government will not contribute to the fund but instead will match withdrawals from the fund dollar for dollar. Benefits will be built up through deduction of one half of one per cent from contributions of teachers for the first five years during which the other teachers contribute.

All costs and expenses incurred in carrying out the objects of the act will be paid out of the fund.

FATHER SEEKS $11,100 AFTER CHILD'S DEATH

Seeking $11,100 damages, an action was started in supreme court by Adolphus Callihoo, Villeneuve, against William Scott Walker, Winterburn farmer, and Douglas Bradbury, Mr. Walker's hired man, for loss of his daughter, Mildred C. Callihoo who died as a result of injuries received in a collision between a motor car and a tractor.

The accident occurred on the Jasper highway September 10, 1938, when a car operated by Mr. Callihoo collided with a tractor operated by Douglas Bradbury. It is alleged in the statement of claim that the accident was caused through the negligence of the defendants.

Judgment was reserved by the court of appeal Wednesday in the appeal brought by Fred Kaup, Morinville farmer, against the judgment of Mr. Justice A. F. Ewing awarding $3,064 damages to Miss Della Arcand, St. Albert, for injuries received in a motor car accident. Appeal is taken also to the award of $500 made by Mr. Justice Ewing against Clavis Arcand, father of the injured woman, on a counter claim brought by Kaup.

Mexico Clamps Down Hard On Alleged Spies

MEXICO CITY, March 1.—Baron Hans Heinrich Von Holleuffer, brother-in-law of Berlin's police chief, and seven other persons have been arrested in a sweeping investigation of espionage activities, it was learned from an authoritative source today.

Confirming reports of the arrest of Baron Von Holleuffer, the German legation said it had intervened to prevent his deportation. The legation added that it did not know of any accusations against him, nor his whereabouts.

Mysterious short-wave radio messages from a transmitting station hidden somewhere near Mexico City were said by informed sources to have started an investigation by secret police of the immigration department, and agents of the attorney-general and communications department.

Six Killed As Boston Tram Car Hurtles Rails

BOSTON, March 1.—Six persons, including four boys and girls of school age, died today when a street car hurtled from its rails because, the operator said, "the brakes didn't hold" at a curve, on a sharp downgrade near Franklin Park zoo.

Fifteen injured persons were treated at hospital and at least another score were treated in homes or in first aid quarters set up in apartment house vestibules at the accident scene.

The crowded car left its rails, lurched across a wide street intersection and came to a stop leaning at a 45-degree angle against two trees.

Japanese May Interfere With Chinese Rites

REGINA, March 1. — Japan's marching legions may interfere with an observance which takes place every decade in Regina cemetery and which was supposed to occur in 1939, James Fenton, superintendent of the cemetery, said Tuesday.

Every ten years it is the custom for Chinese residents in Canada to have their dead of the past decade exhumed from graves in this country and their bones shipped back to China. Normally, the task would have been carried out this year, but due to the unsettled state of affairs in China the graves of ancestral Chinese are in enemy hands. Consequently it now appears as if the ceremony may be postponed.

Austria Count Seeks Riches Of His Minor Son

NEW YORK, March 1—A $20,000 annual personal allowance from his minor son's rich estate was sought today by the 53-year-old Count Ludwig Constantin Salm, who explained political changes in Austria had left him without funds.

The son is Peter Salm, who at 14 is master of a $2,350,000 fortune left him by his grandfather, the Standard Oil magnate, Henry H. Rogers. Peter was the child of the international romance between the Austrian nobleman and Millicent Rogers, daughter of the oil man. She has remarried twice since she divorced the count. He remained single.

South Africa To Recognize Franco

CAPE TOWN, March 1—Although Prime Minister Hertzog declined to commit himself on the subject, government circles freely predicted today the Union of South Africa would shortly follow Great Britain's example in recognizing the Nationalist regime as Spain's legal administration.

"Well, George, how's tricks?"

Terry Pin's Tips On

GETTING A HAIRCUT

In a barber shop you get your nails manicured, your shoes shined, your coat and hat brushed, and all the latest news of the day. No one gets a haircut anymore.

If you do get a haircut, there's no use telling the barber what to do. Your hair is going to be cut the way his is, anyway, in the end.

A scalp treatment is excellent for the follicles of the hair, but hard on the follicles of the pocketbook.

When a barber is shaving you, always talk about the weather. There's no telling what may happen to your skin, once you start in on politics.

Debunker

Although every school book refers to George Washington as the first President of the United States, the truth is that the first President was John Hanson, of Maryland, who was elected President of the United States in Congress assembled in 1781 after a union of the thirteen original States became a reality. George Washington himself addressed Hanson as President of the United States in replying to Hanson's message of thanks on the occasion of the victory at Yorktown.

Marriage is universal in China; bachelors and old maids are unknown.
